Rusk Briefs Hemisphere Envoys On Cuba Situation

Castro Charges Air Violations In Protest Note

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials moved to close hemispheric ranks Wednesday after seeking to reassure senators who are openly worried about developments in Cuba.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk convened a late afternoon meeting of Latin-American diplomats for a private briefing on Soviet shipments of arms and military technicians to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Havana regime.

State Department press officer Joseph W. Reap said the meeting was called more to report on developments than to seek new action.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told a news conference that 61 vessels of four North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries are delivering Soviet military and other supplies to Cuba.

Dirksen said congressional leaders were informed at a White House briefing Tuesday night that most of the material Castro is receiving for a military buildup is being delivered by British, German, Norwegian and Greek ships. He said there was no administration word on whether any protest has been made to the NATO countries.

The meeting with Latin-American and Organization of American States ambassadors followed a closed-door huddle in the morning between top U.S. defense, diplomatic and intelligence offiicals and members of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees.

Sandwiched between was the formal delivery of a protest from Havana against alleged violations of Cuban air spce by Americn planes.

The Cuban note cited about 20 alleged instances of U.S. planes flying over Cuban territory in July.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, told reporters after Wednesday morning's briefing that efforts are continuing to unify Western Hemisphere nations, including Canada, behind efforts to meet any possible threat from Cuba.

"Conditions could arise where we would have to act unilaterally, but we don't want to do that," he said. "This effort to keep the hemisphere unified on policies and actions dates as far back as the Good Neighbor Policy."

Russell said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara voiced confidence at the meeting with senators of this country's military capability to "meet any emergency that might arise."

Russ Charge Allied Berlin Provocations

Soviets Once Again Refuse To Discuss Easing Of Tension

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has accused the United States, Britain and France of provocative incidents along the Berlin border and once again refused to join in a four-power talk on ways to ease tension in the powder-keg city, Tass reported Wednesday night.

The Russians again called on the Western Allies to sign a German peace treaty on Soviet terms and get out of Berlin.

Reply To Allied Notes

Instead, the Kremlin declared, "it is at long last necessary on the basis of a German peace treaty to end the occupation regime in West Berlin, abolish the NATO war base and evacuate the forces of the three Western powers from West Berlin."

The Soviet memorandum distributed by the Soviet news agency Tass was a reply to British, American and French notes of Aug. 24 calling on the Soviet Union to join the three Western powers in a meeting on the tense Berlin situation.

West Holds Soviet Responsible

The Russians repeatedly have refused to join in such a meeting and have tried to divest themselves of responsibility in East Berlin by turning the post of East Berlin commandant over to an East German. The Allies do not recognize the East German regime and have said they will continue to hold the Russians responsible for incidents in the Communist sector.

In Washington, U.S. officials said the note to the U.S. government was delivered to the American Embassy in Moscow and received in Washington Wednesday afternoon. Similar notes were given to the British and French embassies.

Battles Stop As Ben Bella Takes Hand

Strongman Flies To Front Lines; 100 Killed, Wounded

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Leftist strongman Ahmed Ben Bella flew to the front lines Wednesday and personally brought a halt to fighting that killed or wounded 100 men hours after rival Algerian factions had proclaimed a cease-fire.

Forty soldiers were reported killed in just one of three clashes that broke the truce between the deputy premier and anti-Ben Bella guerrillas of Wilayas (military zones) Nos. 3 and 4 holding Algiers and most of central Algieria.

It was the bloodiest fighting since regular army units backing Ben Bella started marching on the capital last Saturday.

Army Commander Miffed

Sources close to the regular army commander, Col. Houari Boumedienne, said he was displeased with the tentative cease-fire agreement because it deprived his 45,000 Soviet-equipped troops of their expected immediate triumphal entry into the capital.

Col. Si Hassan, the Wilaya No. 4 commander, accompanied Ben Bella on the helicopter trip to three points in a wide perimeter south of the capital.

Reports reaching here indicated that the guerrillas were acting only in self-defense and that it was necessary for Ben Bella to persuade the regular army troops to halt the fighting.

The Political Bureau announced the halt in the latest fighting.

Ben Bella and Hassan headed back to the capital to join other guerrilla chiefs and commanders of the regular army gathering in Algiers for talks that could lead to a more permanent settlement of the feuding that has paralyzed the 2-month-old nation.

Agreement To Be Signed

Earlier in the day, Hassan accused Ben Bella's "national people's army," made up of regular troops and loyal guerrillas, of continuing their push toward Algiers near Berrouaghia and Aumale, south and southeast of the capital.

"Our forces continue to resist the invasion," Hassan said. He gave no details of the clashes.

The cease-fire was concluded late Tuesday night between Ben Bella's Political Bureau and the commanders of the rebel guerrilla Wilayas Nos. 3 and 4 after Ben Bella, absent several days, dramatically returned to Algiers.

A definite agreement is expected to be signed as soon as the commanders of all units involved in the fighting can reach the capital.

Shah Of Iran Tours Quake Disaster Area

BOUEIN, Iran (AP)—Clouds of dust mixed with the smell of death Wednesday as the Shah of Iran visited the ruins of mud-brick villages shattered by earthquakes he said killed at least 10,000 persons.

Short, jolting rumbles almost daily, since the savage shock Saturday night devastated vast areas, kept survivors in terror as they scrounged for food and water and dug in the debris to recover bodies and buried the dead.

Moderately strong earth tremors Wednesday rocked two regions across the frontier—in Soviet Armenia and Turkey. Some damage was reported in the Turkish town of Igdir but there were no reports of casualties.

The shah moved by plane and helicopter through the 23,000 square-mile triangular disaster area beginning 110 miles west of Tehran.

Stark reports from officials brought out the immensity of the disaster.

Dr. Rouhollah Changizi, attached to the Red Lion and Sun—Iran's Red Cross—said there is still danger of infectious diseases in Bouein and in other villages.

A member of Parliament for the area, Reza Djafari, estimated 9,000 sheep and cows were killed in the quake and said the carcasses added to the growing threat of epidemics.

The Iran Red Cross reported more than 3,000 victims have been buried hastily in villages, without traditional Moslem rites.

Some remote villages still have not been reached by rescue teams. A U.S. spotter plane made aerial photos of the quake area to pinpoint the worst hit.

Beauty Shatters $2,016 Perfume, Given $5.60 Vial

LONDON (AP) —"And this," said the manager of the perfume factory, "is our most expensive item."

"Oooh," cooed Joy Black, who as Miss Great Britain was starting out Tuesday on a tour of the nation. "How much is it worth?"

He handed it over to the 24-year-old beauty.

She turned to say something and the container slipped from her fingers to the concrete floor. The $2,016 worth of perfume spilled.

Stunned for a moment, Walker quickly regained his composure and said: "Accidents will happen. It's just one of those things."

Sputnik IV Breaks Up Over Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Soviet Union's four-ton Sputnik IV, put in orbit 28 months ago, apparently broke up over Wisconsin early Wednesday, causing a rash of reports of flaming unidentified flying objects.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., said it had asked its network of professional and advanced amateur skywatchers to begin a vigil Tuesday night. Smithsonian mathematicians said the satellite was unlikely to stay aloft beyond Friday.

Bomb Scares Empty Schools At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —Bomb scares forced children from two integrated Roman Catholic schools Wednesday and a crowd of 500 whites jeered a Negro mother and white priests at a third. A white boycott spread against desegregated parochial schools.

Archbishop John P. Cody said "admittedly problems have arisen" at Buras, La., where a boycotted school was closed for a day last week for fear of violence and at a Westwego, La., school where whites demonstrated and hurled at least one stone at a Negro woman. Segregationists predicted more trouble in Westwego Thursday.

The New Orleans archdiocese stood on its edict integrating parochial schools despite a sharp drop in white enrollment. Negro attendance rose slightly to 190 in 34 schools, an increase of 37 Negroes over Tuesday.

On the second day of integration of schools in the New Orleans Archdiocese, anonymous phone calls warned of bombs in the St. Rose of Lima and St. Leo the Great grammar schools in the city.

Police and firemen rushed to the schools and the children were shephereded out by nuns as though they were holding a fire drill. No bombs were found and classes were resumed 30 minutes later.

Refugees Say Strike Staged On "Wall Day"

BERLIN (AP)—Two young East Germans who smashed and swam their way to the west under Communist gunfire reported Wednesday night that workers at an East German plant staged a sitdown strike on the anniversary of the Red wll.

Willy Geidel, 25, and Karl-Heinz Warmus, 22, said there is growing opposition among East German workers to their Communist rulers.

They drove a truck 100 miles through East Germany early in the day, rammed it through Communist border fortifications, swam a canal and scrambled safely up the bank on the West side s East German guards opened fire.

Geidel and Warmus had been truck drivers at the state-run construction combine Chemie-Halle, which is setting up a refinery for Soviet crude oil at Luetzkendorf in the Merseburg district, near Leipzig and Halle.

They said that on last Aug. 13, the first anniversary of the Communist Berlin wall, many workers in the Luetzkendorf plant put down their tools in a general protest strike and went into the canteen to drink. Foremen tried to talk them into resuming work but the men refused, the refugees told interviewers.

Turning to their escape, Geidel said he and Warmus decided at his workers' dormitory late Tuesday night to try to flee.

The two climbed into the truck Geidel was assigned to drive at the construction site.

They alternated behind the steering wheel during their 100-mile ride to Berlin that lasted nearly four hours. Once an East German police patrol tried to stop them, but they went on.

Geidel said he had scouted out the area where he wanted to break through. They approached the border region over a bumpy field lane, lights dimmed.

He rammed the heavy truck through two of the three barbed wire fences, flattening three concrete poles. The truck got caught in a tangle of barbed wire.

They dived into the unused Teltow canal, marking the border between East Germany and Lichterfelde in the American sector of West Berlin.

As they reached the West side of the canal and started climbing up the embankment, a rock loosened and fell into the muddy waters.

Telstar Relays New York-Paris Stock Orders

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market soared to a high Wednesday — at least in altitude —Paris and New York exchanged market orders via the Telstar satellite.

It was the first time the high-flying 170-pound metal ball was used to relay such a message.

Observers commented that the experiment was an improvement over the conventional printed method of transmission. It was faster, and as Fred Sears in Paris noted, "Nothing beats just talking with the other office."

"Eventually this system can tie together the financial capitals of the world and create one world of finance," Michael McCarthy, chairman of the brokerage firm Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, told Sears, his Paris manager.

There was a series of purchase orders from French customers. American customers ordered French stocks.

Senate Agrees To Vote Today On Tax Revision

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Wednesday night postponed a final vote on President Kennedy's tax revision bill until Thursday after rejecting a series of controversial amendments.

Faced with still other amendments and speeches on other subjects, the Senate agreed to meet at 9 a.m. EDT Thursday and air the tax subject with four hours of debate before a final vote. That meant passage would come shortly after 1 p.m.

The agreement came after two major efforts to change the controversial tax reform measure were rejected.

In one move, it refused to add on a provision that would have coupled a tax cut in the top income brackets with a reduction in the oil-gas depletion allowance from 27.5 to 20 per cent.

In another it killed a proposal to grant professional people and other self-employed persons tax reductions of up to $1,750 a year to set up their own retirement plans. This was defeated 45 to 41 after the Senate was warned it might produce a presidential veto.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., offered the amendment to cut the top income tax rates from 91 to 60 per cent, coupling this with the reduction in the depletion allowance. The amendment, vigorously attacked by oil state senators, was defeated 57 to 30.

The retirement plan proposal, offered as a rider to the tax bill by Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., was one of the last major controversies over the trimmed down tax revision bill.

The measure, already passed by the House in a form much nearer the President's desires, probably will go to a House-Senate conference for compromise.

The key feature of the Senate bill is the administration's modified $1 billion a year tax credit for business designed to stimulate investments in new machinery and equipment.

The bill also carries a number of loophole plugging features, including higher taxes on mutual savings and insurance companies.

Employment At Record High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More Americans held jobs last month than at any time in history. But a disappointingly small dent was made in the ranks of the unemployed.

Joblessness decreased so little, in fact, that the seasonally adjusted rate actually crept up from 5.3 to 5.8 per cent of the labor force.

The Labor Department, in its monthly rundown on the job situation, reported Wednesday that the number of employed persons increased by 198,000 in August to a record total of 69,762,000.

Unemployment, however, dipped only by 86,000 leaving a tot l of 3,932,000 without jobs. A normal seasonal drop would have been about 450,000 — which accounted for the rise in the seasonal rate.

Seymour Wolfbein, the department's manpower expert, saw no signs of a possible recession in the unemployment figures. He said the continued upsurge in employment argued against any economic deterioration.

Soviets Reject U2 Explanation

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia Wednesday rejected official American explanations that a U2 plane may have "unintentionally" violated Soviet air space and demanded the punishment of those responsible for the "insolent provocation."

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has not commented publicly on the alleged flight by a U.S. U2 over the Soviet-held Sakhalin Island, north of Japan, last Thursday. But observers said he may discuss the incident with U.S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Udall, who returned to Moscow after a tour of power stations, is scheduled to fly to the Black Sea resort of Sochi Thursday to meet Khrushchev. Udall said the invitation came from Khrushchev and was not expected.

Observers said it appears that Khrushchev wants to take advantage of the opportunity to take up the latest U2 incident and its implications with a member of President Kennedy's cabinet. It also was speculated that Khrushchev may have some message he wants Udall to relay to Kennedy.

Quake Damages Schools In Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A sharp earthquake damaged two high schools in the Salt Lake Valley Wednesday but no one was injured.

It was the second strong earthquake in Utah in a week.

Merchandise tumbled into the aisles of many grocery stores as the temblor rocked the valley at 9:16 a.m. The roofs of two older homes collapsed. Cracks appeared in inside walls of several downtown office buildings and a number of broken windows were reported.

Red "War Games"

BERLIN (AP)—Maneuvers, believed to be the opening phase of large-scale East bloc military exercise, were reported Wednesday to have started in East Germany.

Kennedy To Tour Space Installations Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced Wednesday that President Kennedy will make a two-day survey of military and civilian space installations next week.

Kennedy will be accompanied by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and other high administration officials as well as members of Congress when he makes the trip to four installations Sept. 11-12.

In order, he will stop at Cape Canaveral, Fla.; Huntsville, Ala.; Houston, Tex., and St. Louis, Mo.

The White House said Kennedy's aim is "to study the work being done in this most important area and in connection with the preparation of the fiscal year 1964 budget which will be submitted to the Congress in January."

The first stop, at Cape Canaveral, will give Kennedy his second view of that major launching area for both civilian and military space efforts.

He went there last winter to congratulate astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., the first American to orbit the globe, and made a short tour of the base at that time.

The government is concentrating on its Saturn and Redstone projects at Huntsville. The new Manned Space Flight Center is at Houston, where Kennedy will stay overnight.

At St. Louis, the President and his companions will inspect the McDonnell Aircraft plant which produced the Mercury space capsule.

De Gaulle Mingles With West Germans

BONN (UPI)—French President Charles de Gaulle Wednesday ignored the threat of assassination and mingled with the crowds in two German cities in a display of friendship for his country's former enemies.

De Gaulle followed up this demonstration by proposing early political union between France and West Germany in talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, his host during his six-day visit.

Although West German and French security officials fear the outlawed French Secret Army Organization (OAS) will use the trip for another attempt on De Gaulle's life, the general ignored their warnings in Bonn and Cologne.

Prisoners Riot

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Prisoners at the Bexar County Jail in San Antonio rioted and set mattress fires Wednesday in protest against being served stew at the noon meal. Four prisoners were injured, none seriously.

Officials used wax bullets and high pressure water hoses to break up the riot.

Soblen, Final Plea Denied, Due Back In U.S. Today

LONDON (AP)—Robert A. Soblen, still professing innocence after a nine-week bid for freedom in Britain, is reported booked to fly back to the United States and prison Thursday.

Home Secretary Henry Brooke rejected the convicted fugitive spy's final plea for clemency and ordered him placed aboard a New York-bound airliner "as soon as practicable."

A spokesman for Pan American World Airways said Soblen would depart London at 10 a.m. and arrive in New York at 1:35 p.m. New York time.

He would be accompanied by a British doctor, the spokesman said.

But the 61-year-old psychiatrist, sentenced for espionage for the Soviet Union, indicated in a statement through his attorneys that he was not yet through fighting the life term imposed on him by an American court.

Soblen's attorneys argued that Soblen is suffering from leukemia —blood cancer.

Soblen jumped bail of $100,000 and fled to Israel from New York in June using the Canadian passport of his dead brother. The Israelis expelled him as an illegal immigrant and it was on the return flight to New York aboard an Israeli airliner that the runaway slashed himself with a steak knife and was landed here July 1 for hospital treatment.

He failed in four court attempts to win his freedom and the British government rejected his plea for asylum.

De Gaulle followed up this demonstration by proposing early political union between France and West Germany in talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, his host during his six-day visit.

Although West German and French security officials fear the outlawed French Secret Army Organization (OAS) will use the trip for another attempt on De Gaulle's life, the general ignored their warnings in Bonn and Cologne.

Refugees Say Strike Staged On "Wall Day"

BERLIN (AP)—Two young East Germans who smashed and swam their way to the west under Communist gunfire reported Wednesday night that workers at an East German plant staged a sitdown strike on the anniversary of the Red wll.

Willy Geidel, 25, and Karl-Heinz Warmus, 22, said there is growing opposition among East German workers to their Communist rulers.

They drove a truck 100 miles through East Germany early in the day, rammed it through Communist border fortifications, swam a canal and scrambled safely up the bank on the West side s East German guards opened fire.

Geidel and Warmus had been truck drivers at the state-run construction combine Chemie-Halle, which is setting up a refinery for Soviet crude oil at Luetzkendorf in the Merseburg district, near Leipzig and Halle.

They said that on last Aug. 13, the first anniversary of the Communist Berlin wall, many workers in the Luetzkendorf plant put down their tools in a general protest strike and went into the canteen to drink. Foremen tried to talk them into resuming work but the men refused, the refugees told interviewers.

Turning to their escape, Geidel said he and Warmus decided at his workers' dormitory late Tuesday night to try to flee.

The two climbed into the truck Geidel was assigned to drive at the construction site.

They alternated behind the steering wheel during their 100-mile ride to Berlin that lasted nearly four hours. Once an East German police patrol tried to stop them, but they went on.

Geidel said he had scouted out the area where he wanted to break through. They approached the border region over a bumpy field lane, lights dimmed.

He rammed the heavy truck through two of the three barbed wire fences, flattening three concrete poles. The truck got caught in a tangle of barbed wire.

They dived into the unused Teltow canal, marking the border between East Germany and Lichterfelde in the American sector of West Berlin.

As they reached the West side of the canal and started climbing up the embankment, a rock loosened and fell into the muddy waters.

Prisoners Riot

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Prisoners at the Bexar County Jail in San Antonio rioted and set mattress fires Wednesday in protest against being served stew at the noon meal. Four prisoners were injured, none seriously.

Officials used wax bullets and high pressure water hoses to break up the riot.

Telstar Relays New York-Paris Stock Orders

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market soared to a high Wednesday — at least in altitude —Paris and New York exchanged market orders via the Telstar satellite.

It was the first time the high-flying 170-pound metal ball was used to relay such a message.

Observers commented that the experiment was an improvement over the conventional printed method of transmission. It was faster, and as Fred Sears in Paris noted, "Nothing beats just talking with the other office."

"Eventually this system can tie together the financial capitals of the world and create one world of finance," Michael McCarthy, chairman of the brokerage firm Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, told Sears, his Paris manager.

There was a series of purchase orders from French customers. American customers ordered French stocks.

Employment At Record High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More Americans held jobs last month than at any time in history. But a disappointingly small dent was made in the ranks of the unemployed.

Joblessness decreased so little, in fact, that the seasonally adjusted rate actually crept up from 5.3 to 5.8 per cent of the labor force.

The Labor Department, in its monthly rundown on the job situation, reported Wednesday that the number of employed persons increased by 198,000 in August to a record total of 69,762,000.

Unemployment, however, dipped only by 86,000 leaving a tot l of 3,932,000 without jobs. A normal seasonal drop would have been about 450,000 — which accounted for the rise in the seasonal rate.

Seymour Wolfbein, the department's manpower expert, saw no signs of a possible recession in the unemployment figures. He said the continued upsurge in employment argued against any economic deterioration.

Senate Agrees To Vote Today On Tax Revision

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Wednesday night postponed a final vote on President Kennedy's tax revision bill until Thursday after rejecting a series of controversial amendments.

Faced with still other amendments and speeches on other subjects, the Senate agreed to meet at 9 a.m. EDT Thursday and air the tax subject with four hours of debate before a final vote. That meant passage would come shortly after 1 p.m.

The agreement came after two major efforts to change the controversial tax reform measure were rejected.

In one move, it refused to add on a provision that would have coupled a tax cut in the top income brackets with a reduction in the oil-gas depletion allowance from 27.5 to 20 per cent.

In another it killed a proposal to grant professional people and other self-employed persons tax reductions of up to $1,750 a year to set up their own retirement plans. This was defeated 45 to 41 after the Senate was warned it might produce a presidential veto.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., offered the amendment to cut the top income tax rates from 91 to 60 per cent, coupling this with the reduction in the depletion allowance. The amendment, vigorously attacked by oil state senators, was defeated 57 to 30.

The retirement plan proposal, offered as a rider to the tax bill by Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., was one of the last major controversies over the trimmed down tax revision bill.

The measure, already passed by the House in a form much nearer the President's desires, probably will go to a House-Senate conference for compromise.

The key feature of the Senate bill is the administration's modified $1 billion a year tax credit for business designed to stimulate investments in new machinery and equipment.

The bill also carries a number of loophole plugging features, including higher taxes on mutual savings and insurance companies.

Soviets Reject U2 Explanation

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia Wednesday rejected official American explanations that a U2 plane may have "unintentionally" violated Soviet air space and demanded the punishment of those responsible for the "insolent provocation."

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has not commented publicly on the alleged flight by a U.S. U2 over the Soviet-held Sakhalin Island, north of Japan, last Thursday. But observers said he may discuss the incident with U.S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Udall, who returned to Moscow after a tour of power stations, is scheduled to fly to the Black Sea resort of Sochi Thursday to meet Khrushchev. Udall said the invitation came from Khrushchev and was not expected.

Observers said it appears that Khrushchev wants to take advantage of the opportunity to take up the latest U2 incident and its implications with a member of President Kennedy's cabinet. It also was speculated that Khrushchev may have some message he wants Udall to relay to Kennedy.

Quake Damages Schools In Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A sharp earthquake damaged two high schools in the Salt Lake Valley Wednesday but no one was injured.

It was the second strong earthquake in Utah in a week.

Merchandise tumbled into the aisles of many grocery stores as the temblor rocked the valley at 9:16 a.m. The roofs of two older homes collapsed. Cracks appeared in inside walls of several downtown office buildings and a number of broken windows were reported.

Red "War Games"

BERLIN (AP)—Maneuvers, believed to be the opening phase of large-scale East bloc military exercise, were reported Wednesday to have started in East Germany.

Kennedy To Tour Space Installations Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced Wednesday that President Kennedy will make a two-day survey of military and civilian space installations next week.

Kennedy will be accompanied by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and other high administration officials as well as members of Congress when he makes the trip to four installations Sept. 11-12.

In order, he will stop at Cape Canaveral, Fla.; Huntsville, Ala.; Houston, Tex., and St. Louis, Mo.

The White House said Kennedy's aim is "to study the work being done in this most important area and in connection with the preparation of the fiscal year 1964 budget which will be submitted to the Congress in January."

The first stop, at Cape Canaveral, will give Kennedy his second view of that major launching area for both civilian and military space efforts.

He went there last winter to congratulate astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., the first American to orbit the globe, and made a short tour of the base at that time.

The government is concentrating on its Saturn and Redstone projects at Huntsville. The new Manned Space Flight Center is at Houston, where Kennedy will stay overnight.

At St. Louis, the President and his companions will inspect the McDonnell Aircraft plant which produced the Mercury space capsule.

Soblen, Final Plea Denied, Due Back In U.S. Today

LONDON (AP)—Robert A. Soblen, still professing innocence after a nine-week bid for freedom in Britain, is reported booked to fly back to the United States and prison Thursday.

Home Secretary Henry Brooke rejected the convicted fugitive spy's final plea for clemency and ordered him placed aboard a New York-bound airliner "as soon as practicable."

A spokesman for Pan American World Airways said Soblen would depart London at 10 a.m. and arrive in New York at 1:35 p.m. New York time.

He would be accompanied by a British doctor, the spokesman said.

But the 61-year-old psychiatrist, sentenced for espionage for the Soviet Union, indicated in a statement through his attorneys that he was not yet through fighting the life term imposed on him by an American court.

Soblen's attorneys argued that Soblen is suffering from leukemia —blood cancer.

Soblen jumped bail of $100,000 and fled to Israel from New York in June using the Canadian passport of his dead brother. The Israelis expelled him as an illegal immigrant and it was on the return flight to New York aboard an Israeli airliner that the runaway slashed himself with a steak knife and was landed here July 1 for hospital treatment.

He failed in four court attempts to win his freedom and the British government rejected his plea for asylum.

Pontiff Sets Forth Rules For Catholic Ecumenical

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII on Wednesday created a presiding committee of 10 cardinals and laid down rules, including a call for secrecy of both participants and observers, for the Roman Catholic ecumenical (worldwide) council opening Oct. 11.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, was named to the committee. Among the others was Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, the French-born dean of the College of Cardinals. The 10 committeemen will take turns presiding over working sessions.

The Pope named 10 other cardinals—all with regular positions in the Vatican—as presidents of council commissions whose assignments range from faith and customs to television and motion pictures.

A secretariat for extraordinary affairs was created to handle any problems not anticipated in the preparatory work. The president is Amleto Giovanni Cardinal Cicognani, Vatican secretary of state. Among the members is Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer, archbishop of Chicago.

In an apostolic letter, the head of the Roman Catholic Church said the council will evidently be the greatest in size yet celebrated by the Church.

The council, the 21st in the 2,000-year history of the church, will bring together almost 3,000 prelates.

As a result, Pope John said, it is necessary to put down rules for procedure.

Although the council will emphasize internal Roman Catholic church matters, the Pope has said its work—by demonstrating the strength of the Church—will serve as a bid to other Christians to seek unity by a return to Catholicism.

The Vatican announced 12 non-Catholic church groups have agreed to send observers. They can attend public sessions and working sessions unless the presiding committee decides otherwise. The observers cannot vote or speak in the debates.

State Police Seeking Cattle-Hen Rustlers

FREDERICK M.d. (AP)—Maryland State Police were on the lookout Wednesday for someone apparently getting ready to start a dairy and chicken farm.

It's not that they hold any grudge against private enterprise, but they take a rather dim view of appropriating the initial stock from other farms in the middle of the night.

Two Frederick County farmers told State Police Wednesday they lost a total of 12 Holstein heifers, two Holstein bulls and 40 Rhode Island Red hens sometime Tuesday night. The farms from which the stock was reported missing are within a mile of each other.

Soviet Harvest Lags

MOSCOW (AP)—The official paper Soviet Russia complained Wednesday grain harvesting is lagging badly in some regions.

"The country," the paper declared, "needs bread and not promises."

It criticized farmers and government officials for offering excuses.

K Of C Turns Down Integrationists' Bid

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Knights of Columbus of Maryland denied Wednesday integrationists' request that it cancel a reunion planned Sunday at a segregated amusement park in Baltimore County.

The Civic Interest Group, an integrationist organization, had asked the Knights Tuesday not to hold the reunion at Gwynn Oak Park.

The Knights of Columbus is a Catholic lay organization not under the auspices of the Catholic Church.

"We regret that this situation has come up," said Maurice J. Klein, statewide K of C deputy, Wednesday, "but certainly it can be understood that at such a late date of protest . . . it is not practical nor feasible to cancel the arrangements for Sunday."

Scientists Jubilant Over Mariner Shift

That's how scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory described a midcourse change in direction Tuesday by the United States' mariner 2.

The 12-foot-high spacecraft, responding to radio commands from earth 1.5 million miles away, fired a tiny rocket motor to correct its course. Now it is expected to come within 9,000 miles of the cloud-covered planet Venus by Dec. 14.

Prayers Said, Bible Read In Many Schools

By The Associated Press

They read from the Bible and recited the Lord's Prayer in many public schools Wednesday as the nation's school children returned from summer vacation.

Throughout the land, communities were beginning the first full academic year since the U.S. Supreme Court decision banning a New York State official prayer.

In New York, some communities were planning to allow recitation or singing of a verse of the national anthem or "America."

In Massachusetts, thousands of pupils began their school year Wednesday, as in the past, with a Scripture reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer. The continuation of that past procedure was backed by Massachusetts state law and by an advisory from the state commissioner of education.

The Massachusetts law directs that a passage of the Bible be read without written or oral comment. The brief religious ceremonies usually are held at the discretion of the teacher, and participation is voluntary.

A spot check in Massachusetts by The Associated Press disclosed no exceptions to the procedure prescribed by law.

Plane Crash Fatal To 13 Investigated

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — Experts looked Wednesday for the cause of the nation's worst industrial airplane accident—the crash of a twin-engine Lookheed Lodestar that killed a pilot, copilot and 11 oil company executives.

Pieces of twisted metal — all small enough for a man to lift with one hand—and fragments of human bodies were assembled from acres of soggy farmland where the plane crashed and exploded about 8:55 p.m. Tuesday.

Eyewitness accounts were rounded up from persons who saw the plane's lights streak down from the night sky, heard its engines falter and saw orange flames leap 50 feet in the air when the aircraft hit and blew up.

The plane was one of five in a fleet operated by the Ashland (Ky.) Oil & Refining Co. It picked up four executives of the subsidiary Allied Oil Co. in Cleveland about 4:45 p. m. Tuesday and later took on five executives of the subsidiary Frontier Oil Co. at Buffalo.

Two Cars Collide But Back-To-Back

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP)—The damage to the autos amounted to $350, but it was to the rear end of each car.

Police said Arthur Reed and David Huffins collided Tuesday while driving backward.

One car was trying to get out of a deadend street.

Steady Rain Breaks Maryland Drought

By The Associated Press

Maryland, parts of which Gov. Tawes only last Friday wanted designated as a drought disaster area, bathed in rain again Wednesday for the fourth consecutive day.

Farmers happily watched crops mature, city dwellers watched brown lawns turn green again and forestry officials said the rain had ended immediate fire danger.

The Weather Bureau said that in most sections of Maryland the rainfall has totaled about half an inch. But there was more in parts of Southern Maryland and interior northern Maryland.

Nearly an inch and a half has fallen on Salisbury and more than two inches at Cumberland.

"We're happy with the rain," said Dr. Roy Castle of the University of Maryland agricultural extension service. It will be beneficial, he said, to fall seeding and for rejuvenation of parched pastures. "But it won't materially affect the hay shortage or the summer crops."

The counties for which Tawes asked drought disaster designation were Baltimore, Carroll, Frederick, Harford, Howard, Montgomery, Washington, Caroline, Queen Annes, Talbot, Anne Arundel, Calvert, Prince Georges and St. Marys.

Dr. Castle said he didn't expect Department of Agriculture officials to respond to the request until late this week.

C. N. Guellow, agricultural statistician in charge of the Maryland - Delaware Crop Reporting Service at College Park, said the rain would have little effect on the corn crop, much smaller this year.

"But it will benefit the soybeans on the Eastern Shore," he said, "and start pastures greening up which will produce fall pasture feed for dairymen and beef producers.

"This is really the biggest benefit. They're going into winter with a shortage of hay, and the more fall pasture feed they have, the better off they'll be. It also will benefit the fall snap bean crop and fall spinach."

William Johnson, assistant state forester in charge of fire control, said the rains of September were a godsend. He said a bad forest fire situation had been developing.

"It never got critical but there was a high fire danger," Johnson said. "This rain has certainly alleviated any immediate danger. If we have normal weather now through the fall we shouldn't experience any more trouble."

Guellow said the drought was one of the longest ever in Maryland and precipitation from April 14 to Aug. 10 was from 30 to 50 per cent below normal.

New Pact Ends Strike At Chemical Plant

BALTIMORE (AP) — Officers of the Chemical Workers Union and management officials ratified a new two-year contract Wednesday ending a five-day old strike at the Davison Chemical Co.

The new contract guarantees a 10-cents-an-hour wage increase during the first year and an eight cent increase during the second year. The contract also provides for adjustments in fringe benefits.

The contract affects about 640 members of the Chemical Workers Union, Local No. 2, AFL-CIO at Davison. Davison employes are currently paid from $1.86 for laborers to $2.48 for mechanics and electricians.

Cherrapunji, India, holds world records for the most rainfall in a single month and a single year. During the 12 months following August, 1860, the town was drenched with 1,042 inches. The fall totaled 366 inches in July 1861.

Suspect In Five Baltimore Bank Holdups Seized

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI captured Wednesday an escaped convict from the Oklahoma State Prison and linked him to five recent bank robberies in Baltimore.

Robert Larkin Venable, 37, was seized while driving a car on Manhattan's East Side, the FBI said. He surrendered meekly.

Special FBI agent H. G. Foster said Venable broke out of the Oklahoma institution in McAlester, Okla., April 14. He had been serving a term for automobile theft.

The FBI said he was known as "the Thursday bank robber" in Baltimore for a series of robberies authorities said he carried out between April and August of this year, usually on a Thursday. The total loot was $15,266.

Foster said Venable had an extensive criminal record dating back to 1941.

The victimized banks in Baltimore and the times and amounts of the robberies were listed by the FBI as:

Wyman Park Federal Savings and Loan Association, $1,810, April 12.

Provident Savings Bank, $2,250, April 26.

Calvert Savings and Loan Association, $4,889, May 17.

Homeseekers Federal Savings and Loan Association, $1,017, July 26.

Kenwood Savings and Loan Association, $5,300, Aug. 15.

British Envoy Passes Up Fair

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — The Maryland State Fair will have to struggle along Thursday without Sir David Ormsby-Gore, Britain's ambassador to the United States.

Fair officials announced last Saturday that Sir David planned to visit the fairgrounds 11 miles north of Baltimore late Thursday afternoon. Wednesday, they received word from Washington he is not coming. No reason was given.

Chestertown High Kent County's First Integrated School

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP) — One Negro girl went to classes with white children Wednesday at Chestertown High School. It was Kent County's first school integration in history.

The student, Patricia Bryant, is a senior taking the academic course. She arrived at the school unaccompanied as the fall term began.

W. J. Stenger, school principal, said there was no incident of any kind.

Dorchester and Wicomico counties, also on the Eastern Shore, integrated classes for the first time Wednesday.

School opens Thursday in two other Maryland counties scheduled to have integrated classes for the first time — Calvert in Southern Maryland and Caroline on the Eastern Shore.

What Do Doctors Do When They Suffer HEADACHE PAIN?

New York, N.Y.— Most doctors live under constant nervous tension, pressure and mental strain. It's not surprising they, too, often suffer from miserable headaches. But now — it can be revealed what doctors, themselves, take to relieve headache pain.

A survey shows many doctors take the fast, pain-relieving ingredients in Anacin®. In fact, three out of four doctors recommend this same type of relief to their patients.

Anacin Tablets are stronger yet safer. They give fast, long-lasting and — more complete relief from tense, nervous headaches than aspirin or aspirin with buffering. You see, mere aspirin or buffered aspirin contains only one pain reliever. But Anacin is different. Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of medically proven ingredients recognized for their effectiveness by the highest medical authorities. Anacin gives extra medication that not only relieves pain fast, but also its nervous tension, pressure and depression.

Despite their strength and effectiveness — Anacin Tablets contain no narcotics, do not form a habit or leave one depressed. Anacin may be taken as directed as often as needed without upsetting or irritating the stomach.

See if the extra medication in Anacin doesn't work better for you. Change to Anacin for fast, long-lasting, more complete pain-relief.

Girl, 14, May Have Typhoid Fever

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Harford County teen-ager who may have contracted typhoid fever has been brought to City Hospitals in Baltimore for tests.

In Bel Air, Dr. Henry F. Barnes, Harford County health officer, said his staff planned to immunize everyone who might have come in contact with the girl, Katherine Durham, 14, of Havre de Grace.

The girl was taken to Harford Memorial Hospital in Havre de Grace Sunday after returning from a two-week trip to New York City with an undiagnosed fever. She was transferred to Baltimore Tuesday night.

Baltimore health officials said there are intermittent outbreaks of typhoid fever in Maryland every year and there is no reason for public alarm.

Dr. J. B. Zachary, chief resident at City Hospitals, said several days of laboratory tests would be required before an accurate diagnosis could be made in Katherine's case.

Baltimore Man Dies In 16-Story Plunge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Charles Flester, 38, of Baltimore jumped or fell to his death Wednesday from the 16th floor of the Lord Baltimore Hotel in the heart of the city.

The impact of his body's falling on a parked car released the emergency brake and set the vehicle in motion.

Police said the victim apparently rode to the hotel's 16th floor in a freight elevator then entered an opened room, where his eyeglasses were later found on the bed.

Police said they were trying to determine whether Flester had been a guest at the hotel.

Maryland News In Brief

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Baltimore County police reported Wednesday the theft of furs and jewelry worth more than $18,000 Aug. 25 from the home of Mrs. Albert Winer.

Police said the thieves forced a basement door to enter the ranch home and take the two fur pieces and 24 items of jewelry. One of the furs was a pastel mink jacket valued at $1,425. A diamond ring worth $5,800 was among the missing jewelry.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore housewife whose husband is a deputy sheriff was fined $50 in Municipal Court Wednesday on a charge of refusing to obey a policeman's order to move on during anti-Negro demonstrations last week.

Judge Mary Arabian imposed the fine on Mrs. Elsie E. Reitz, 30, who lives near Riverside Park in South Baltimore where the demonstrations happened. Police Lt. Frank Baccala quoted Mrs. Reitz as saying "This was her park and she didn't have to move."

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Tuberculosis Association has granted $3,500 to Dr. Elliott Michelson to investigate the parts that bronchial arteries play in degenerative lung diseases.

Dr. Michelson will conduct the research at the Sinai Hospital and will work in conjunction with Dr. Seymour Haber, radiologist of the Sinai staff.

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — Almost half of the 14 persons killed in Maryland traffic accidents last week were killed in single car accidents.

A weekly State Police traffic accident study again blamed driver error as the main cause for the fatalities. But the report also said that alcohol could have been a factor in at least six of the accidents.

BALTIMORE (AP)—George W. Harley, 75, plunged to his death from the second floor of his home in Baltimore. He was pronounced dead Wednesday at Provident Hospital.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A sports clothing manufacturer and a container company occupying the same building sustained damages totaling $120,000 Wednesday by a six-alarm fire in an industrial section of South Baltimore.

Four firemen were injured, none seriously, as 75 firemen fought the blaze. It apparently started in a steam boiler.

M. Richard Strause, owner of Phoenix Manufacturing Co., estimated damages to his clothing firm at $50,000. Jacob Gersh of Gersh Container Co. said the fire ruined $70,000 worth of tin cans.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Benjamin R. Civiletti, 27, of Baltimore, began his duties Wednesday as an assistant U.S. attorney.

U.S. Atty. Joseph D. Tydings, announcing the appointment, said Civiletti has been law clerk to District Judge W. Calvin Chesnut for the past year.

BALTIMORE (AP)—There was a little monkey business at police headquarters Wednesday but it didn't last long.

A frightened, screeching white-faced capuchin monkey escaped from a cardboard box and ran wild in the assembly room where police have rollcall. Baltimore's finest eventually captured the monkey.

The monkey was turned over to police after it has escaped from the home of its owner, Irvin Marx. It was returned to Marx Wednesday.

Girl, 14, May Have Typhoid Fever

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Harford County teen-ager who may have contracted typhoid fever has been brought to City Hospitals in Baltimore for tests.

In Bel Air, Dr. Henry F. Barnes, Harford County health officer, said his staff planned to immunize everyone who might have come in contact with the girl, Katherine Durham, 14, of Havre de Grace.

The girl was taken to Harford Memorial Hospital in Havre de Grace Sunday after returning from a two-week trip to New York City with an undiagnosed fever. She was transferred to Baltimore Tuesday night.

Baltimore health officials said there are intermittent outbreaks of typhoid fever in Maryland every year and there is no reason for public alarm.

Dr. J. B. Zachary, chief resident at City Hospitals, said several days of laboratory tests would be required before an accurate diagnosis could be made in Katherine's case.

Baltimore Man Dies In 16-Story Plunge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Charles Flester, 38, of Baltimore jumped or fell to his death Wednesday from the 16th floor of the Lord Baltimore Hotel in the heart of the city.

The impact of his body's falling on a parked car released the emergency brake and set the vehicle in motion.

Police said the victim apparently rode to the hotel's 16th floor in a freight elevator then entered an opened room, where his eyeglasses were later found on the bed.

Police said they were trying to determine whether Flester had been a guest at the hotel.

Maryland News In Brief

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Baltimore County police reported Wednesday the theft of furs and jewelry worth more than $18,000 Aug. 25 from the home of Mrs. Albert Winer.

Police said the thieves forced a basement door to enter the ranch home and take the two fur pieces and 24 items of jewelry. One of the furs was a pastel mink jacket valued at $1,425. A diamond ring worth $5,800 was among the missing jewelry.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore housewife whose husband is a deputy sheriff was fined $50 in Municipal Court Wednesday on a charge of refusing to obey a policeman's order to move on during anti-Negro demonstrations last week.

Judge Mary Arabian imposed the fine on Mrs. Elsie E. Reitz, 30, who lives near Riverside Park in South Baltimore where the demonstrations happened. Police Lt. Frank Baccala quoted Mrs. Reitz as saying "This was her park and she didn't have to move."

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Tuberculosis Association has granted $3,500 to Dr. Elliott Michelson to investigate the parts that bronchial arteries play in degenerative lung diseases.

Dr. Michelson will conduct the research at the Sinai Hospital and will work in conjunction with Dr. Seymour Haber, radiologist of the Sinai staff.

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — Almost half of the 14 persons killed in Maryland traffic accidents last week were killed in single car accidents.

A weekly State Police traffic accident study again blamed driver error as the main cause for the fatalities. But the report also said that alcohol could have been a factor in at least six of the accidents.

BALTIMORE (AP)—George W. Harley, 75, plunged to his death from the second floor of his home in Baltimore. He was pronounced dead Wednesday at Provident Hospital.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A sports clothing manufacturer and a container company occupying the same building sustained damages totaling $120,000 Wednesday by a six-alarm fire in an industrial section of South Baltimore.

Four firemen were injured, none seriously, as 75 firemen fought the blaze. It apparently started in a steam boiler.

M. Richard Strause, owner of Phoenix Manufacturing Co., estimated damages to his clothing firm at $50,000. Jacob Gersh of Gersh Container Co. said the fire ruined $70,000 worth of tin cans.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Benjamin R. Civiletti, 27, of Baltimore, began his duties Wednesday as an assistant U.S. attorney.

U.S. Atty. Joseph D. Tydings, announcing the appointment, said Civiletti has been law clerk to District Judge W. Calvin Chesnut for the past year.

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street appears to be taking a brighter view of business conditions.

Its experts admittedly aren't satisfied with the rate of growth but they find the level of economic activity encouraging and see fears of a recession abating.

The research and statistical organization, Standard & Poor's, Inc., points out that Labor Day marks a point at which investors frequently pause to assess the outlook for the more seasonally active business period that lies ahead.

What they see at present, according to Standard & Poor's, is an economy running at record-breaking level but showing little added vigor.

At the same time, it says, certain unexpected elements of strength have been manifested with the result that earlier fears of an impending recession have been allayed; the worst now seen is a modest dip in business.

The brokerage house, E. F. Hutton & Co., observes that at few times in the past has the state of business been subjected to such scrutiny as in the last few months.

It says that while forecasters continue to dispute the interpretation of incoming statistics, it is becoming increasingly clear that the economy is not moving forward with any real conviction.

"Of perhaps more importance," in Hutton's opinion, "there is even less evidence that American business is about ready to go over the brink despite the emotionalism of the past several months."

Lewisite was the name of a type of poison gas invented by an American scientist in World War I.

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Seiberling Rubber Co. said Tuesday it is expanding its operations in the Far East and Hawaii.

In this connection it announced the appointment of Kenneth E. Thomas and Alvin Lee as sales managers to represent the company in the Far East and Hawaii, respectively.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) —Douglas Aircraft Co. said Tuesday that during the first seven months of this year it increased subcontracts to small business concerns by more than 20 per cent compared with the same period last year.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Piel Bros., a New York brewery, is being acquired by Drewrys Limited U.S.A., Inc., a Midwest brewery for an undisclosed amount, the two companies announced jointly Tuesday.

Champion Retain W. Va. Chess Title

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—Marshall University psychology professor Dr. Alex Darbes successfully defended his West Virginia state chess championship during the annual state tournament held here over Labor Day weekend.

Darbes, who took the 1961 crown with six straight wins, won five straight to sew up the title before losing to Edward M. Foy, Charleston, in the final round Monday.

Foy wound up with a 4-2 score along with John C. Scherer, South Charleston; Don McKee, Wheeling, and David Marples, St. Albans. However, second place was awarded to Scherer on the basis of a tie-breaking point system.

At 3½-2½ each were many-times champion Dr. Seigfried Werthammer, Huntington, pathologist, and Dr. George Pierson, Charleston. Fourteen players competed in the senior championship division.

South Africa's Nobel Winner Lives In Increased Isolation

By RICHARD R. KASISCHKE

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Ex-chief Albert Luthuli, South Africa's only Nobel Peace Prize-winner, still has a telephone but he lives in increasing isolation in his cottage amid the sugar cane fields at Groutville 45 miles north of here.

Virtually no one from outside goes to his home since he was formally named on the list of banned and silenced people issued by the South African government July 30 under the antisabotage law.

Under that law, what Luthuli might tell newsmen over the telephone can not be published here or sent abroad under penalty of imprisonment unless the minister of justice should grant special permission. Friends say Luthuli's telephone is monitored.

He can still go to the nearby village of Stanger, within the limits of his 15-mile exile, to try to meet friends.

Durban newsmen say one is permitted to ask government permission to visit Luthuli, but that the Zulu ex-chief himself discourages this because what would be the point of making a statement that couldn't be published and only would result in penalties.

Luthuli can still use the mails and apparently has done so. One message was sent to an international youth conference at Aarhus, Denmark, in early July. News dispatches quoting from the message were not printed here.

Amcelle Plant Will Fill Yarn Order For Korea

Sen. J. Glenn Beall announced that the Celanese Fibers Company's Amcelle Plant has received an order for $10,000 worth of acetate yarn being sold overseas under provisions of the U. S. Foreign Aid program.

Sen. Beall said he was informed of the order by agency for International Development.

The Cumberland plant is filling the order under a contract awarded to a New York exporter by the buyer, a textile mill in South Korea.

The contract amount includes freight and other costs. The purchase is being made under the U. S. Economic Assistance Program in South Korea administered by the Agency for International Development.

Terms of the assistance agreement provide that American suppliers have an opportunity to bid on contracts from the foreign country, thus keeping approximately two-thirds of foreign aid dollars within the U. S. economy.

Shipments bear a distinctive of the assisted nation that the goods result from the U. S. A. program.

Seven More Die

MANILA (UPI) — Cholera has claimed seven more lives out of 192 cases reported in the Philippines during the period Aug. 19-25 the Health Department announced Wednesday.

A spokesman said the latest figures showed a decrease over the previous week when 14 deaths were reported out of 269 cases throughout the nation.

Registration Drive Planned

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A statewide drive to register Democratic voters, including a door-to-door canvass Sept. 17-27, gets under way Wednesday.

Democratic state headquarters said the drive will be headed by Huntington businessman Andrew J. Houvouras. Chairmen and co-chairmen have been appointed in each county to work on the drive in cooperation with their county Democratic executive committee.

Houvouras said that an intensive drive will be conducted in each county to attempt "complete registration" in advance of the Oct. 6 deadline.

Group Of Ecuadorian Rail Union Officials Touring This Section

Cumberland, as a rail center and a place to live, this week is being given thorough scrutiny by a team of railroad union officials from Ecuador.

The seven men accompanied by two interpreters have as their project manager Harry Conroy, a former resident of Altoona.

The tour that started with a 10-week course in labor and management at University of Puerto Rico will close on September 22 in Mexico City when they depart for home.

Their visits are being sponsored by the Agency for International Development of the U. S. Department of State. The Department of Labor is responsible for the technical program.

Conroy said the group arrived in Cumberland over the weekend. Tuesday they were taken on a tour of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's marshalling yards, and then went through the shops, observing various procedures.

Yesterday, William Cage, LaVale, executive board member of District 29, International Association of Machinists, was in charge of a meeting of the Ecuador group with representatives of the B&O Shop Crafts Federation in the Goodfellowship Hall.

Today and Friday, they will confer with the Mayor and Council on various aspects of city government.

The visitors are employed in various capacities on the National Railroad of Ecuador. This is a 650-mile system which traverses one of the steepest rail grades in the world over Ecuadorian mountains.

Their tour will be to study railroad and economic conditions, and to visit headquarters of unions in various cities.

Their team manager, Conroy, is a former president of Local 525 of the Sheet Metal Workers in Altoona and also coach at Altoona Catholic High School.

None of the men speak English and the team has two interpreters, Mrs. Carmen Cumming, a writer and Spanish translator at the University of Texas in Austin, and Carlos Guiterrez.

Chauffeurs for the Ecuadorians yesterday and hosts at the union discussions were Cage William, Kunis, chairman, and William Bishop, vice chairman, of the Local Brotherhood of Railroad Carmen.

In the group are Angel C. Chavez, yard fireman; Fausto Gonzalo Machurro Ibarra, an accountant; Gonzalo Vidal Montenegro Carrerra, member of the Graphic Arts Union and a linotypist for the railroad; Cesar Enrique Navarrite Murillo, general secretary of the Railroad Workers Labor Union; Roberto Aurelio Nevarez Ponce, a machinist; Francisco Gonzalo Robelly Cadena, a machinist; and Rafael Francisco Valestingin Sanches, a storekeeper.

The group spent August 11-22 in Washington and then went to New York City from August 23 to 27 to observe shops and operating practices of the New York Central.

From August 28 to 31 they were inspecting B&O facilities in Baltimore. Cumberland's week is the second longest of any stop in this country.

From here they go to Pittsburgh on Saturday for four days, then to Chicago from September 13 to 18, and finally to Mexico City from September 19 to 21.

Amcelle Plant Will Fill Yarn Order For Korea

Sen. J. Glenn Beall announced that the Celanese Fibers Company's Amcelle Plant has received an order for $10,000 worth of acetate yarn being sold overseas under provisions of the U. S. Foreign Aid program.

Sen. Beall said he was informed of the order by agency for International Development.

The Cumberland plant is filling the order under a contract awarded to a New York exporter by the buyer, a textile mill in South Korea.

The contract amount includes freight and other costs. The purchase is being made under the U. S. Economic Assistance Program in South Korea administered by the Agency for International Development.

Terms of the assistance agreement provide that American suppliers have an opportunity to bid on contracts from the foreign country, thus keeping approximately two-thirds of foreign aid dollars within the U. S. economy.

Shipments bear a distinctive of the assisted nation that the goods result from the U. S. A. program.

Seven More Die

MANILA (UPI) — Cholera has claimed seven more lives out of 192 cases reported in the Philippines during the period Aug. 19-25 the Health Department announced Wednesday.

A spokesman said the latest figures showed a decrease over the previous week when 14 deaths were reported out of 269 cases throughout the nation.

Registration Drive Planned

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A statewide drive to register Democratic voters, including a door-to-door canvass Sept. 17-27, gets under way Wednesday.

Democratic state headquarters said the drive will be headed by Huntington businessman Andrew J. Houvouras. Chairmen and co-chairmen have been appointed in each county to work on the drive in cooperation with their county Democratic executive committee.

Houvouras said that an intensive drive will be conducted in each county to attempt "complete registration" in advance of the Oct. 6 deadline.

Group Of Ecuadorian Rail Union Officials Touring This Section

Cumberland, as a rail center and a place to live, this week is being given thorough scrutiny by a team of railroad union officials from Ecuador.

The seven men accompanied by two interpreters have as their project manager Harry Conroy, a former resident of Altoona.

Repair Shop Is Destroyed

A structure being used as an auto repair shop in Wiley Ford burned to the ground yesterday despite efforts of two fire companies.

Wiley Ford and Ridgeley firemen said an auto that had been torn down was also lost in the blaze.

The property was formerly used as a house by John Cook, firemen reported.

The tour that started with a 10-week course in labor and management at University of Puerto Rico will close on September 22 in Mexico City when they depart for home.

Their visits are being sponsored by the Agency for International Development of the U. S. Department of State. The Department of Labor is responsible for the technical program.

Conroy said the group arrived in Cumberland over the weekend. Tuesday they were taken on a tour of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's marshalling yards, and then went through the shops, observing various procedures.

Yesterday, William Cage, LaVale, executive board member of District 29, International Association of Machinists, was in charge of a meeting of the Ecuador group with representatives of the B&O Shop Crafts Federation in the Goodfellowship Hall.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 161 Successes of the armies led by Grant, Pope, Burnside and Hunter down the Mississippi Valley and the South Atlantic coast in the spring of 1862 brought the War Department a new, acute problem—that of taking care of hordes of prisoners the generals shipped north via boat or train.

In the first months of the rebellion many captured men in the ranks were released on parole, while their officers were confined in forts in New York, in the penitentiary at Alton, Ill., and at Camp Chase, Ohio. In the autumn of 1861 prisoner regulations were made more rigorous. Larger and cruder detention facilities were built at Johnson's Island in Sandusky Bay of Lake Erie.

Those were made inadequate quickly by the Confederates from fallen Forts Henry and Donelson in Tennessee. It was turned into an officers' prison while enlisted men were scattered in camps near Chicago, Indianapolis, Madison and Columbus, where the state penitentiary was used. Subsequently, prisoner-of-war camps were established at Elmira, N. Y.; Point Lookout, Md.; Rock Island, Ill.; Fort Delaware (in the Delaware River).

Initially the Rebel captives were given regulation Army rations. These were cut down when the Northern authorities sought to compel better treatment of Union men held in the South. Under this retaliatory policy, "Disease and death increased in Northern prison camps until the total casualties approximated those in Southern prisons," it is stated by W. B. Hasseltine, in his book, "Civil War Prisons."

The city's planning consultant, Blair and Stein Associates, said, in the report approved by both agencies, that in view of the many problems involved in the central business district, that an application should be made to the housing and Home Finance Agency for an advance of funds to prepare a general neighborhood renewal plan.

The firm said that according to the Urban Renewal Manual, a general neighborhood renewal plan can be considered under the following circumstances:

1. "For an urban renewal area of such scope that urban renewal activities may be carried out in stages over an estimated period of up to 10 years."

2. "When, in the interest of sound community planning, it is desirable that the urban renewal area be planned for urban renewal purposes in its entirety."

Cites Benefits

The benefits of such an approach, the city bodies was told, are:

1. The Cumberland Thruway will affect the entire central business district. A general neighborhood renewal plan will determine the extent of this effect and will make detailed plans accordingly.

2. Detailed improvements of the street system, including new street proposals, can be properly planned in context of the total CBD.

3. Since a series of specific projects will be required to complete the renewal of the Central Business District, the GNPR will provide not only a firm basis for selecting these projects but also a basis for establishing feasible priorities.

4. The railroads will affect the entire CBD and its street system. The GNPR will place all projects and improvements in proper relation to these factors.

5. The series of specific projects will create many business and residential relocations. The GNPR will examine the extent of such relocation requirements and resources available to meet these requirements.

5. The GNPR will determine the marketability of the land acquired and cleared through specific projects and provide a detailed estimate as to the costs involved in each project with the amount of both anticipated federal aids and local contributions.

Liquor Board Approves Transfer Of Bar License

The transfer of the Class D beer, wine and liquor license of the Galen Bar, 20 South Mechanic Street, yesterday was approved by the Allegany Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners.

The new owners, who will take over the business next Monday, are Viola Dicken, Werner Dicken and Ruth Twigg. Paul and June Gallen have operated the business for some years at the present site. The new owners will use the Galen Bar trade name.

Gallen has held a liquor license since the repeal of Prohibition in the early 1930s. The first location was on Baltimore Street adjacent to the Western Maryland Railway in a building which was torn down some years ago. He has been in the present location for more than 20 years.

The Liquor Board also meted out a 10-day suspension to Leo A. Kenney, who operates a beer tavern on Main Street in Frostburg. The suspension was given for the sale to minors of beer some weeks ago by an employe in the tavern.

The Liquor Board also advised Kenney, who operated under the trade name, "Doc" Kenney, to move off Main Street to a new location as soon as practical.

A one-day beer permit was granted by the board to the Coordinating Council of Republican Clubs of Allegany County for Saturday, September 8. The GOP group is holding an ox roast Saturday at Fairgo.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	Double
2 ♥	2 NT	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♥

Finesses not infrequently are the sirens which lure over-eager declarers to their destruction. As witness South's unhappy experience in today's hand.

While the decision to play at four spades is unassailable, there may be some question as to the manner in which the contract was achieved. When West's opening bid of one heart was passed around to South, there was no question as to the propriety of the double, and West's rebid of the hearts placed North in a perhaps awkward position. He actually chose to bid two no trump, tho with a single stopper in hearts, in the face of a rebid, our own preference would have been to respond in spades, despite the weakness of the suit. The fact that a free bid is being made at this point should make South conscious of the fact that North has a fairly good holding. In any case, South was not to be shut out of showing his spade suit and the natural contract of four spades was reached.

West opened the king of hearts and, after winning the trick with dummy's ace, declarer proceeded to draw trumps in three rounds. He next led the ten of diamonds and passed it when West played low. East won with the jack of diamonds and returned a heart which South ruffed. The diamond finesse was repeated and North's queen lost to the king. Another round of hearts forced out declarer's last trump.

South led over to the dummy's ace of diamonds in order to turn his attention to the club suit. The jack was led thru for another finesse. When this lost to West's queen, a fourth round of hearts removed the last trump from North's hand. West was now able to take the last two tricks with the ace of clubs and a high heart to put declarer down two.

In the maze of finesses, South lost sight of his goal on the hand which was to win 10 tricks. He can obtain this objective with complete ease by establishing the club suit. After drawing the adverse trump, he merely leads a club from his hand, preferably the king. West will win the trick and can do no better than shift to a diamond. This trick is conceded to East, the forced heart return is ruffed, and now the clubs are established in one more round by driving out the queen. Dummy's remaining diamond loser is discarded on the fourth round of clubs, and South eventually ruffs away a diamond from his hand for the game fulfilling trick.

Church Appeal Hearing Set

The Allegany County Board of Appeals will hear the application of the Pleasant Grove Methodist Church, Baltimore Pike, for a change of the requirement of the right-of-way provision in order to erect an addition to the edifice. The hearing will be held September 13 at 2 p.m.

C. Lee Renaud, county planner, said the interim zoning ordinance requires a 60-foot right-of-way but the church edifice and property is located between the dual sections of U. S. Route 40 and there is no additional land available.

Renaud also said the County Planning and Zoning Commission will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the office at the Court House.

School Opening Said Smooth

Public schools in Allegany County opened yesterday for the new school term and generally everything went smoothly, according to Ralph R. Webster, superintendent.

At Allegany High School, where classes are being staggered due to an overflow of students, there were some mixups due to the change in the school bus schedules, according to Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal.

Haines said that despite some absences (about two dozens students) the overall picture was good.

Senior high students report for classes at 8:05 a.m. and junior high students at 9:05 a.m. Dr. Haines said the school is opened at 7:50 a.m. for seniors and 8:50 a.m. for the juniors.

Starting Friday the seniors will start at 8:05 and the school day will end at 2:50 p.m. The juniors will have a 9:05 to 3:30 p.m. schedule.

Harry M. Whisner, the city's meter inspector, reported collections of $809.25 for the week ended August 26. The amount represented a decrease of $34 from the previous week.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Yesterday I was whipping up some fudge frosting. When I turned my back to get the vanilla my 12-year-old son stuck his hand, up to the wrist, into the mixing bowl. He would have got away with it if there hadn't been a mirror in the kitchen.

I surprised him with a rap across the knuckles with the wooden mixing spoon. He ran screaming into the living room to tell his father I had broken his fingers—and right in baseball season, too! Of course, this was ridiculous.

My husband took his side against me. He said I had been unnecessarily brutal and that all kids like frosting. By the time the two of them had finished I was an ugly-tempered devil and the boy was a sweet little angel.

I'd like your opinion, please. —A DEVIL OF A MOTHER

Dear Mother: Of course all kids like frosting. So what? By the time a child is 12 he should know what a spoon is.

There is no excuse for a kid that age to stick his hand, wrist-deep into a bowl of frosting. He could have asked for a taste and I'm sure you would have given it to him.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I get along fine. It's our relatives that bug us.

My sister Greta's husband left her without a dime or a farewell. Greta works to support her son, and I must say she makes good money. But she's always in debt and borrowing from me.

Last week she spent $200 on a wig. My husband was burned up over this extravagance, since she still owes me over $500. Three or four evenings a week Greta and her son come here for dinner —uninvited.

Now the other side: My husband's brother Vic is what you might call "the black sheep." He goes from one job to another and never does very well at anything. He hangs around night and day and doesn't stop drinking as long as there's a drop in the bottle. On account of Vic my husband drinks more than he should. Vic is here for dinner about four nights a week. Also uninvited.

When I mention Vic to my husband he brings up Greta. Frankly, I'm sick of the whole pack. Our grocery and liquor bills are triple because of them.

What can I do? — TEARING MY HAIR OUT

Dear Tearing: Tell your husband you'll trade him your sister for his brother. In other words if he'll lower the boom on Vic you'll do the same with Gret.

You pigeons are getting it from both sides. Wake up and smell the coffee. It's high time all the moochers were put on an invitation-only basis.

And P.S. Stop tearing your hair out or you'll have to borrow Greta's wig.

Dear Ann Landers: May I play Ann Landers for a minute? I'd like to tell "Excluded" how to handle people who accept invitations but don't extend them. She was deeply distressed because most of the people she entertained never called her back.

I have a little rule: I'll invite a couple twice. If no attempt is made to reciprocate, then I drop them from my list—pronto.

If we are invited but cannot accept, I consider this "reciprocation"—since the effort was made. If a little gift arrives after a couple has been in our home, I consider this "reciprocation." It is evidence that they appreciated our company.

There are lovely people in this world and there are spongers. My little rule has helped me separate the sheep from the goats. The hostess who continues to wine and dine parasites is a sap. — OLD HAND

Dear Old Hand: Your formula is a good one. I recommend it.

Commission Could Eliminate Others

Folk at home are aware that Congress acts upon a small percentage of the bills introduced, and that even fewer are passed. For the sake of the country, it is well this is so.

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio began keeping count of the number of new agencies of government, from cabinet level on down to agency status, which would be created if the intent of each piece of legislation introduced were fulfilled. At last tally, he had reached 63 new governmental bodies, complete with directors and staff.

Among some of the prize proposals were a National Spelling Commission, a National Productivity Council, an Office on Syndicated Crime, a Bureau of Senior Citizens, something called a Frequency Allocation Board, a Commission on Continuing Prosperity, a Department of Urbiculture and a Department of Peace.

Is it any wonder President Kennedy, upon assuming office, was able to obliterate with a swipe of his pen scores of similar shallowly constructed and unneeded bodies of government? Unfortunately, while most of such interest catering creations never materialize, some do live through congressional scrutiny and plague their mentors until someone has the courage to exterminate them.

The present administration has added nearly 80,000 more employes to the federal payroll. This in itself is sufficient evidence of the propensity inherent in government bodies to multiply a la Parkinson's law. They are doing fine without the aid of those 63 proposed bureaus.

But if Congress does find it has a few rooms left over in either the new House Office Building or the new Senate ditto, it might consider the establishment of a Commission to Eliminate Unnecessary Commissions. One may be confident this is one body lobbyists would shun like the plague.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Negro And Politics

With the exception of the Black Muslims, most Negroes who vote will favor those candidates who support desegregation programs. This means that in such states as New York, New Jersey, California, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Illinois, the Negro as a political factor looms large in both the 1962 and 1964 Elections. It is interesting to note that Harriet Martineau, more than a century ago, foresaw this possibility. However, she attributed it to the emergence of the mulatto.

Leaving out all idealistic considerations, as a matter of practical politics the candidates who are against desegregation, who will speak in favor of segregation, will most likely be defeated in those states. At any rate, few are likely to take chances.

The Black Muslims favor segregation, for very bad reasons. They despise white people. They regard themselves as superior to white people. They want two states of the United States to be given to them so they can found a nation of their own, separate from the United States and antagonistic to it. The Black Muslims may or may not vote.

How large Elijah Muhammad's following is, nobody really knows. However, the general tone of the Negro communities, particularly in the North, is that Negroes favor desegregation and will vote accordingly on Election Day. This has had a great effect upon the politicians of both parties.

On the other hand, it must be recognized that there is considerable hypocrisy on this subject throughout the North, but the politicians dare not discuss the hypocrisy. They believe in the doctrine of letting sleeping dogs lie. David Dubinsky, the most significant labor leader in the garment industry, found himself and his union attacked for discriminating against Negroes and Puerto Ricans. It was very embarrassing to Dubinsky.

The fact is that there must be a discriminatory factor in these unions. When the Jewish immigrants came from Poland, the Ukraine, Rumania and other Eastern European countries, they settled in New York City and were shamelessly exploited by the bosses in what was then called the needle trades industry. Sweat shop conditions prevailed. The workers even had to supply their own sewing machines. Much of the work was done in the homes.

The needle trades unions were organized as Yiddish-speaking locals because the members knew no English. They came from many Eastern European countries and Yiddish was the only language they had in common. Their minutes were written in Yiddish. If you walk along Seventh Avenue in New York around lunch time, you will still listen to much Yiddish.

Later, many of these workers became bosses and now their sons and sons-in-laws, English-speaking men, have become the bosses.

The next group of workers to go into this industry were Italian immigrants. As they could speak neither Yiddish nor English, they organized Italian locals—that is, locals in which the business was conducted in Italian, mostly in Sicilian and Neapolitan dialects. They developed their own labor leaders and some of them also became bosses.

When the Negroes and Puerto Ricans came along, the industry was pre-empted by Yiddish and Italian speaking personnel. As a matter of fact, some of the Negroes learned to speak Yiddish, but the Puerto Ricans speak Spanish. The International Ladies Garment Workers Union is now English-speaking and the leaders eat steaks instead of pastrami sandwiches, but the rank and file are what they were born to be and most of them are not used to Negroes and Puerto Ricans. This is history, not opinion.

Politicians cannot afford to admit, in these large centers of Negro population, that they pursue discriminatory practices such as sending their children to private instead of public schools, which rich Negroes also do. The politicians in these populous centers, whether they are Republicans or Democrats, must believe in Democracy and in the theory that all men are equal, no matter what they practice. The politician who holds otherwise, cannot be elected to any office.

This being the situation, there is no advantage in the North to try to make it different. In 1964, an increasingly large number of Negroes will vote in the South. Besides, no matter how one looks at it, by 1964, reapportionment will have destroyed what was once the Solid South and therefore the Northern politician, even in the Democratic Party, is making a play for the Negro vote.

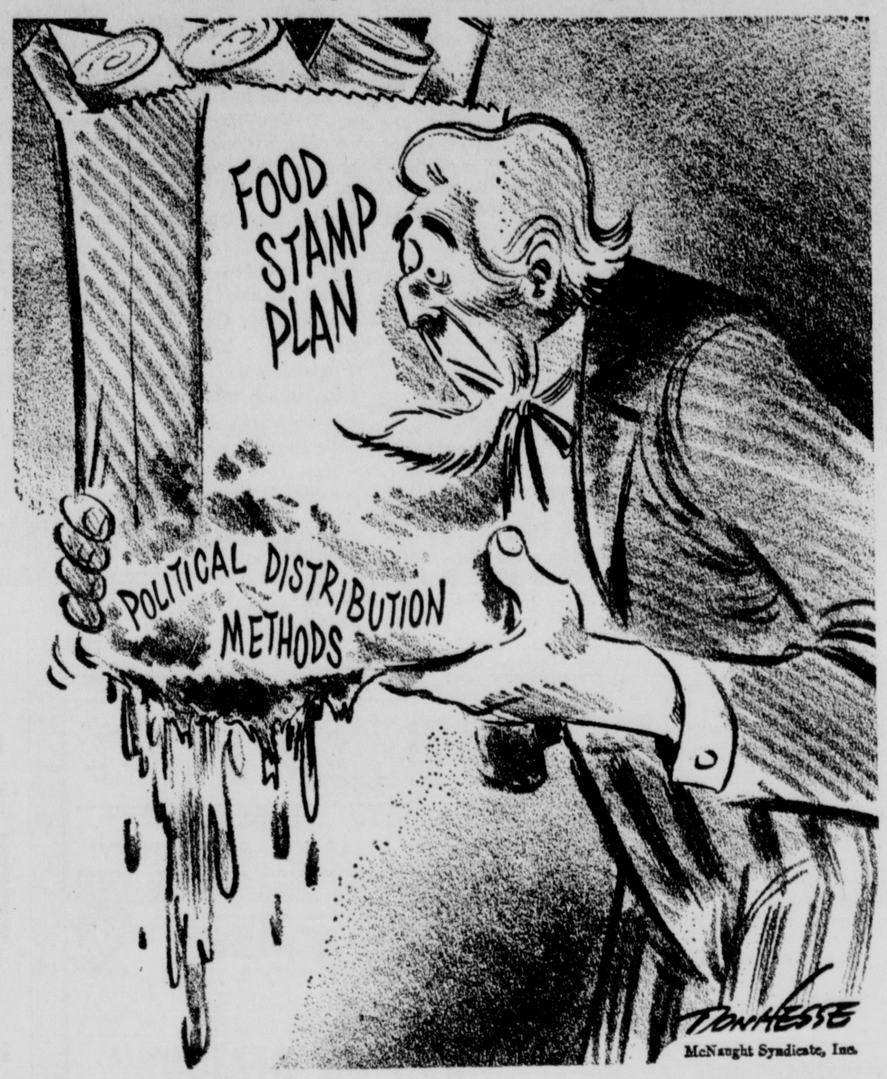
Rotten Eggs In The Grocery Bag



Sen. Dirksen Defends Steel Moguls Who Undercut Republicans In Past

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When Senate Republican Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen (Ill.) let off his blast defending A. B. Homer of Bethlehem Steel and other steel moguls who refused to appear before the Senate Anti-monopoly Committee, he had a short memory. Dirksen forgot that some of these same steel moguls, especially Homer, had thumbed their noses at Republicans in the past just as much as at Democrats today.

It's true that some of these steel moguls have been heavy contributors to the Republican Party. But if Everett McKinley Dirksen will thumb through the records of his own Senate under two Republican presidents, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover, he'll find some interesting evidence regarding the manner in which Homer, now chairman of Bethlehem Steel, tried to undercut Coolidge's carefully laid plans for disarmament.

It was Homer of Bethlehem who joined with three other shipbuilders and steel processors to pay a smooth-operating lobbyist, William Baldwin Shearer, to go to Geneva in 1927 and break up the Coolidge Naval Disarmament Conference. Shearer wined and dined the admirals, fed anti-disarmament propaganda to the press, later collected $40,000 from the shipbuilders and the steel companies. The conference was a failure.

Under Herbert Hoover, another Republican president, the Senate investigated all this, showed how A. B. Homer et al were more interested in selling steel plate for naval vessels than they wanted peace. At that time, under a Republican president, the Senate had no trouble getting the steel executives to answer subpoenas. Now, however, Republican Leader Dirksen says it will.

Note — It will be interesting to see how certain Senators who were quick to vote contempt citations against McCarthy witnesses where human rights were involved, will now vote where property rights are involved.

Mrs. Bolton Protects Shrine

"The battle of sewage" is being fought over one of the great shrines of America, George Washington's home at Mount Vernon, by two Ohio members of Congress.

One, who is defending George Washington's home, is Mrs. Frances Bolton, Republican, of Cleveland Heights. The other, who seems to favor a sewage plant opposite the stately home of the father of the country, is Mike Kirwan, Democrat, of Youngstown.

The battle has gone so far that Mrs. Bolton with her own money last week bought up and gave to the National Park Service 155 acres of land on the banks of the Potomac directly opposite Mount Vernon. It is here that the Prince Georges County Sanitary Commission wants to build a sewage disposal plant, egged on by real-estate developers who propose a residential area alongside.

At present, the view from Mount Vernon is a beautiful one, relatively unspoiled from the days when the founding father of the country looked across at the Maryland shore. To ruin it with the smokestacks of a sewage plant, shopping centers, and cheap housing has offended a great many Washingtonians — but apparently not the Congressman from Youngstown, Mike Kirwan.

So when Congress last year set aside 1,186 acres of the Maryland shoreline opposite Mount Vernon for the public, Kirwan promptly squelched it. As chairman of the powerful Appropriations Subcommittee on Park, he killed most of the money.

Kirwan has an interesting record regarding river development.

He seems susceptible to pressures from real estate people and big business. When the U. S. Steel Corporation wanted $90,000,000 from Congress to deepen the Delaware River for its ore boats, Kirwan made various speeches opposing this as a waste of the taxpayers' money. But when Ben Fairless, head of U. S. Steel, Mike changed his tune.

He immediately pushed through the $90,000,000 for U. S. Steel and its deepening of the Delaware.

Just what Kirwan's motives are in wanting a sewage plant and a real-estate development in front of Mount Vernon, remain obscure. But Mrs. Bolton's motives are not.

A lady of vigor, charm, and wealth, she proceeded to use her wealth to acquire 505 acres of the Maryland shore for the Accokeek Historical Foundation which she heads. Of this, she donated 155 acres last week to the government, and will give the remaining 350 acres when the Interior Department acquires adjacent lands and scenic easements to preserve the historic shoreline.

Pylos And The Human Scale Of Ancient War

By Joseph Alsop

PYLOS, Greece

Even in the bright Greek air, under the golden Green sun, Sphacteria seems sullen and uninviting. It is hard to imagine anything happening since history began on this narrow, barren islet which is a mere continuation of the coastal cliffs.

Yet this rocky islet of Sphacteria, which supports no life, is still peopled by old ghosts who have a tale to tell that is worth hearing, even today.

The time was in the first great age of the story of the West, after the Greeks had routed the countless hosts of Persia. Athens, bold, ingenious, and free, was then the strongest seapower in the world, and the strongest landpower was hard, totalitarian Sparta. Thus the first great war of the West began when Athens and Sparta and their allies came to blows.

Early in this Peloponnesian War, one of Athens's shrewdest generals, tough, penny-pinching Demosthenes, seized a base here, on the Pylian headland across the narrow strait from Sphacteria. It was a poor enough base, very hastily fortified.

To build the walls, the Athenian troops even had to "carry the mortar on their backs since they had no hods, stooping down so as to carry as much as possible, and clasping their hands behind them to prevent it from slipping off." Yet Demosthenes had chosen his base astutely.

Pylos is in Messenia; and the Spartans had long since conquered this region and made all the Messenians into Helots — rural slaves who worked the land while the ruling Spartans, whose only work was war, passed their days in military exercises. The base in Pylos therefore threatened Sparta with a Messenian guerrilla revolt. So the Spartans mustered a strong force to drive Demosthenes and his men from their craggy fort.

There was a sharp, hot fight. The ships of Athens arrived in the nick of time to support Demosthenes from hte seaward side. And now the besiegers became the besieged, for the strong Athenian fleet trapped and blockaded a part of the Spartan force which had been posted on rocky Sphacteria.

This swift disaster moved the Spartan ephors to send ambassadors to Athens to sue for peace. In truth, the first great war of the West might have ended on rocky Sphacteria if the demagogue, Cleon, had not spurred the men of Athens to raise the price of peace beyond all reason.

So the blockade continued, and for a while the Spartans on the island were part-supplied by underwater swimmers towing skins full of honey and pounded linseed. Yet the men on Sphacteria must have been disheartened by the long blockade. For in the end, Cleon the demagogue, now promoted to a general of Athens, was able to overwhelm the Spartans by a surprise landing with a heavily superior force.

Thus Cleon the demagogue became the first general in the history of Greece to receive the surrender of Spartan heavy infantry, who were trained from childhood to fight to victory or death. "This event," we are told, "caused much more surprise among the Hellenes than anything else that happened in the war." It also deeply influenced the long war's course, by powerfully promoting the fatal overconfidence of Athens.

For just these reasons, the incomparable Thucydides, already quoted, gave a complete chapter to Sphacteria in what is still the finest work of history ever written. But what made Sphacteria memorable for Thucydides is not what makes it worth our own recollection. It is worth remembering now because, in this almost-decisive battle, the Spartans originally trapped on the islet numbered 440 men, and those who surrendered numbered 292.

How tiny, how all-too-human was the scale of history in those days when the balance between the world's mightiest military powers trembled and tilted towards peace for a moment, for such a cause as the events on Sphacteria! How vast, how utterly inhuman is the scale of history in our bomb-age!

The change in scale is what we commonly call progress. But is progress really so perfectly progressive after all? The question, Greece-inspired, is obviously reactionary if not downright subversive. It is time to leave Pylos for Berlin.

BILLIE SOL — As the scandals and sensations surrounding the financial maneuverings of erstwhile Texas tycoon Billie Sol Estes have mounted, so has the temper of sensitivity of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Billie Sol, wheeler and dealer in grain storage, fertilizer and cotton acreages, has become a figure of national notoriety as grand juries and congressional committees continue to explore his operations.

Early in the Billie Sol exposures, Senator Kefauver was the butt of some good-natured kidding about the similarities between his first and Billie's last names. Now, it's gotten beyond a joke as far as Kefauver is concerned.

He's beginning to believe that some casual newspaper readers and radio listeners are actually mis-identifying him as being the wheeler-dealer, and he fears that this will tarnish his image throughout the nation and particularly in his own state where he hopes to run for political office again some time.

Kefauver's sensitivity has now come to the point where he has taken issue with another senator, John L. McClellan of Arkansas, over a Senate speech McClellan delivered on the Billie Sol Estes investigation.

McClellan had referred to the case as the "Estes" matter throughout Kefauver went to him afterward and persuaded him to revise the transcript in the Congressional Record to read "Billie Sol Estes," so there'd be no possibility of mistaking who McClellan was talking about.

Teenagers In Spain

By John Crosby

TORREMOLINOS, Spain

I took a couple of teenage girls, my 13-year-old daughter and her 14-year-old friend to Spain — partly to amuse them, most to amuse me. It's been instructive. Very. For them. For me. For the world.

I had some very large dreams—so had the two mothers — that the trip would be educational. The girls would spend a useful summer learning the Spanish language, absorbing Spanish history through their pores, imbibing the ancient mathematical rules of Moorish architecture, acquiring by osmosis some of the great virtues of Old Spain — courage, honor, courtliness, pride.

Well, let's come off it. I didn't really think they'd do all those things. But I hoped they'd do some of them. I mean, is it unreasonable to have hoped they'd learn six Spanish words? Or even, maybe, a dozen? So, architecture is beyond their 13 and 14-year-old intelligence. But wouldn't you suppose they'd just maybe glance at a Spanish home once in a while and remark: "Gee, isn't it pretty?"

As for courage, honor, courtliness, pride — well, I'll just settle for an occasional "Thank you." (Which I damned seldom hear.)

But I don't want you to think the summer has left them totally unscathed. Oh, dear, no. My goodness, gracious, no! They could hardly have spent the summer in Spain without a good many Spanish customs rubbing off on them. Now the question: how do we rub off the Spanish customs and get them back to where they can live in the Western world? Well, I'll leave all that to their mothers.

What Spanish behavior, you ask, have they learned? Well, first let's take up the matter of hours. Lunch here is at 3 p. m. Dinner is at 10 or 11 at night. And after that, a girl doesn't want to go to bed right after dinner, does she? For reasons of internal security, I'm going to draw the curtain on the girls' bedtime. All I can say is: it's different from New York bedtime for girls.

That brings up the question of arising. Well, they get up eventually. I think once this summer they were up before 11 a. m. As I recall, we were going to a bullfight somewhere so there was a special urgency that emboldened them into facing the cold gray light of dawn. (11 a. m.? Dawn?)

That brings us to the matter of amusements. You in the States have all those decadent, brutal, soul-destroying amusements. Television. All those "Untouchables" mowing down innocent young girls with machine guns. Terrible. Here we have much more suitable things for young shoots.

Bullfights.

Well, sir, when someone first mentioned bullfights for the girls, I said: "They'd hate bullfights. My daughter loves animals. You should see her with a kitten. A bullfight would make them sick." I maintained this pose for half the summer. Then the girls wore me down. They weren't going to come to Spain and not see a bullfight. So I said all right. One bullfight. I explained that six bulls were killed in an afternoon. If they were too sickened by the sight of the first bull, they could leave and wait for us in the car.

Leave? Ha! Sickened? Ho! They adore bullfights. They would travel over mountains (they have traveled over mountains) to see another one. You can't club them away from los toros. Already they're spouting bullfight language — the "faena," the "naturales," the "corrida," the works. Tender young shoots! Where did I ever get that idea? The other day we headed over a mountain to a distant bullring and the car broke down. We never got there. Later I told them: "You didn't miss much. Mediocre bullfight. One matador was gored."

Two stricken faces: "Gored! And we missed it!" I don't want you to get the impression the poor little things have been totally deprived of the sight of gorings. They've seen one of Ordonez's cuadrilla catch it in the ring. They also saw an attendant badly gored when the bull jumped the barricade. They have those two lovely moments to treasure. I don't know how they're ever going to readjust to television. All those little twelve-inch figures hiting each other in the face. Pretty mild stuff for growing girls.

Now, let's see. What other nice healthy Spanish amusements have they learned to know and love? Well, cafe life. They adore sitting in sidewalk cafes speculating about the sex lives of the passersby. Some of the speculations would make your blood run cold. Well, anyway, they make my blood run cold. (Where did they learn all those things?)

They haven't seen a movie all summer — and I think it's very wholesome that their impressionable little minds were given a rest. So what takes the place of the movies? Well, last night they went to the opening of a new night club — where the pot smokers and the drinkers reveled until dawn. (But I didn't keep them out until dawn, mothers. They were safely tucked away in bed by three, like good little girls everywhere.)

Now as to their drinking habits, mothers. They're not allowed more than a bottle of wine for each meal, and apart from a glass of sangria here and an occasional glass of champagne, nothing between meals. Then there's the waiting on that they've grown used to. Here they drop their filthy garments on the floor and by nightfall they're washed and ironed for the next day. When they want something, they are accustomed to clapping their hands sharply — and a servant comes and gives it to them. So, when you hear the sound of clapping when they come home, that means: hop to it.

But don't despair. I think they'll readjust to American ways in — well, maybe six months. Or we could sell them in the slave market in Arabia and start afresh with other girls. Meanwhile, if any of you other mothers of teenage girls would like to entrust your innocents to my hands, I'm thinking of starting Crosby's Educational Tours for Teenage Girls. I absolutely guarantee they'll come home new women. Send for my free folder.

Electronic Device Aids Walking After Stroke

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A lightweight, transistorized, electronic device can be worn to stimulate a paralyzed muscle in the leg. It permits the stroke victim to walk in a relatively normal manner without the use of a brace. The successful use of this stimulator was reported recently in the Journal Lancet by Dr. John H. Moe and Herbert W. Post of Minneapolis.

The portable stimulator weighs less than 7 ounces and is worn on the belt. One electrode is placed over the muscle that pulls up the foot, the other over the calf muscle. The electrodes are held in place with an elastic cuff. The switch is placed under the heel inside the shoe.

The stroke victim develops foot-drop and, with each step, must lift the leg high and throw the foot forward. Unless this is done, the toes scrape on the ground and trip the individual. The purpose of this new device is to prevent the drop by lifting the foot.

The switch goes on the moment the heel is raised off the ground in preparation for the next step. At this moment, the muscle is stimulated to pull up the foot. The switch goes off as soon as the heel touches the ground.

Electronic devices have been used for many years to treat paralyzed muscles. The stimulation improves circulation and retards atrophy and the replacement of the muscle fibers by scar tissue. It hastens recovery by bringing back the active function of muscles. The individual gets the feel of how the muscle pulls up the toes and the foot.

The use of the stimulator combines treatment with ordinary activity. It does not solve all the problems of the stroke victim but it helps. For one thing, the person does not tire as easily while walking.

TIRED AT 20

R. S. writes: I'm 20 years old and always tired. When I was in high school I went in for strenuous sports and often stayed up most of the night cramming for exams. My doctor can find no physical cause for my fatigue. Do you think I have worn out my physical machine and will never be able to lead a full life?

REPLY

Your physical machine should not wear out for another 40 or 50 years. Emotional fatigue is more common than physical fatigue and this is a good possibility in your case, since your physician could not find a physical cause.

FLUIDS WITH INFECTION

A. J. writes: Why is it important to drink lots of fluid with a cold?

REPLY

Because the individual perspires freely and may not feel like eating. Fruit juices, milk, and broth supply some nourishment to help maintain strength and the liquid part prevents dehydration.

LEMON SQUEEZER

Mrs. B. writes: Will taking lemon juice every morning break up the fatty tissues in the stomach and prevent that middle aged spread?

REPLY

No—not even the juice of a young lemon.

SKIN CANCER

S. B. writes: Can cancer of the face grow inward to the internal organs?

REPLY

Yes, if you mean spread (metastasize). This is not common, however, because most skin cancers are treated before reaching this stage.

LAX LIDS

M. S. writes: What is the explanation of loss of elasticity of the skin of the eyelids?

REPLY

All tissues lose their elasticity through age, like old rubber bands. This is more noticeable in tissues that are likely to sag.

LARGE ORDER

D. R. writes: Please send all the information you have on what they are doing to find the cause and cure of cancer.

REPLY

You forgot to enclose a moving van with your request.

BREAD, MEAT, PRESSURE

M. S. writes: Does eating too much bread and meat raise the blood pressure?

REPLY

Not unless the excessive calories increase weight in a person who is a potential hypertensive.

HYPNOSIS FOR BLUSHING

B. S. writes: Can blushing be cured by hypnosis?

REPLY

Yes, provided the cause is amenable to psychotherapy, in which the psychiatrist uses hypnosis.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Then there's the worried lady who called her doctor to report, "My husband has suddenly gone off his rocker. He seems to think he's George Washington." "When can I see him?" asked the doctor. "Just take a look out of your window," said the lady. "He's out in your backyard chopping down your cherry tree."

A wise man and a country bumpkin found themselves sharing a seat for a long bus ride and decided to ask each other riddles to pass the time. "When I miss a riddle," proposed the wise man, "I'll pay you a dollar, but seeing that I've had educational training that was beyond you, when you miss a riddle, you need only pay me fifty cents." "Done and done," agreed the bumpkin, "and I've got my first riddle ready for you right now. What is it that has three legs when it walks and only two when it flies?" "I give up," said the wiseman, "and here's my dollar forfeit. What's the answer?" "I don't know either," admitted the bumpkin and handed back fifty cents.

Commission Could Eliminate Others

Folk at home are aware that Congress acts upon a small percentage of the bills introduced, and that even fewer are passed. For the sake of the country, it is well this is so.

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio began keeping count of the number of new agencies of government, from cabinet level on down to agency status, which would be created if the intent of each piece of legislation introduced were fulfilled. At last tally, he had reached 63 new governmental bodies, complete with directors and staff.

Among some of the prize proposals were a National Spelling Commission, a National Productivity Council, an Office on Syndicated Crime, a Bureau of Senior Citizens, something called a Frequency Allocation Board, a Commission on Continuing Prosperity, a Department of Urbiculture and a Department of Peace.

Is it any wonder President Kennedy, upon assuming office, was able to obliterate with a swipe of his pen scores of similar shallowly constructed and unneeded bodies of government? Unfortunately, while most of such interest catering creations never materialize, some do live through congressional scrutiny and plague their mentors until someone has the courage to exterminate them.

The present administration has added nearly 80,000 more employes to the federal payroll. This in itself is sufficient evidence of the propensity inherent in government bodies to multiply a la Parkinson's law. They are doing fine without the aid of those 63 proposed bureaus.

But if Congress does find it has a few rooms left over in either the new House Office Building or the new Senate ditto, it might consider the establishment of a Commission to Eliminate Unnecessary Commissions. One may be confident this is one body lobbyists would shun like the plague.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Negro And Politics

With the exception of the Black Muslims, most Negroes who vote will favor those candidates who support desegregation programs. This means that in such states as New York, New Jersey, California, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Illinois, the Negro as a political factor looms large in both the 1962 and 1964 Elections. It is interesting to note that Harriet Martineau, more than a century ago, foresaw this possibility. However, she attributed it to the emergence of the mulatto.

Leaving out all idealistic considerations, as a matter of practical politics the candidates who are against desegregation, who will speak in favor of segregation, will most likely be defeated in those states. At any rate, few are likely to take chances.

The Black Muslims favor segregation, for very bad reasons. They despise white people. They regard themselves as superior to white people. They want two states of the United States to be given to them so they can found a nation of their own, separate from the United States and antagonistic to it. The Black Muslims may or may not vote.

How large Elijah Muhammad's following is, nobody really knows. However, the general tone of the Negro communities, particularly in the North, is that Negroes favor desegregation and will vote accordingly on Election Day. This has had a great effect upon the politicians of both parties.

On the other hand, it must be recognized that there is considerable hypocrisy on this subject throughout the North, but the politicians dare not discuss the hypocrisy. They believe in the doctrine of letting sleeping dogs lie. David Dubinsky, the most significant labor leader in the garment industry, found himself and his union attacked for discriminating against Negroes and Puerto Ricans. It was very embarrassing to Dubinsky.

The fact is that there must be a discriminatory factor in these unions. When the Jewish immigrants came from Poland, the Ukraine, Rumania and other Eastern European countries, they settled in New York City and were shamelessly exploited by the bosses in what was then called the needle trades industry. Sweat shop conditions prevailed. The workers even had to supply their own sewing machines. Much of the work was done in the homes.

The needle trades unions were organized as Yiddish-speaking locals because the members knew no English. They came from many Eastern European countries and Yiddish was the only language they had in common. Their minutes were written in Yiddish. If you walk along Seventh Avenue in New York around lunch time, you will still listen to much Yiddish.

Later, many of these workers became bosses and now their sons and sons-in-laws, English-speaking men, have become the bosses.

The next group of workers to go into this industry were Italian immigrants. As they could speak neither Yiddish nor English, they organized Italian locals—that is, locals in which the business was conducted in Italian, mostly in Sicilian and Neapolitan dialects. They developed their own labor leaders and some of them also became bosses.

When the Negroes and Puerto Ricans came along, the industry was pre-empted by Yiddish and Italian speaking personnel. As a matter of fact, some of the Negroes learned to speak Yiddish, but the Puerto Ricans speak Spanish. The International Ladies Garment Workers Union is now English-speaking and the leaders eat steaks instead of pastrami sandwiches, but the rank and file are what they were born to be and most of them are not used to Negroes and Puerto Ricans. This is history, not opinion.

Politicians cannot afford to admit, in these large centers of Negro population, that they pursue discriminatory practices such as sending their children to private instead of public schools, which rich Negroes also do. The politicians in these populous centers, whether they are Republicans or Democrats, must believe in Democracy and in the theory that all men are equal, no matter what they practice. The politician who holds otherwise, cannot be elected to any office.

This being the situation, there is no advantage in the North to try to make it different. In 1964, an increasingly large number of Negroes will vote in the South. Besides, no matter how one looks at it, by 1964, reapportionment will have destroyed what was once the Solid South and therefore the Northern politician, even in the Democratic Party, is making a play for the Negro vote.

Rotten Eggs In The Grocery Bag

Sen. Dirksen Defends Steel Moguls Who Undercut Republicans In Past

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When Senate Republican Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen (Ill.) let off his blast defending A. B. Homer of Bethlehem Steel and other steel moguls who refused to appear before the Senate Anti-monopoly Committee, he had a short memory. Dirksen forgot that some of these same steel moguls, especially Homer, had thumbed their noses at Republicans in the past just as much as at Democrats today.

It's true that some of these steel moguls have been heavy contributors to the Republican Party. But if Everett McKinley Dirksen will thumb through the records of his own Senate under two Republican presidents, Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover, he'll find some interesting evidence regarding the manner in which Homer, now chairman of Bethlehem Steel, tried to undercut Coolidge's carefully laid plans for disarmament.

It was Homer of Bethlehem who joined with three other shipbuilders and steel processors to pay a smooth-operating lobbyist, William Baldwin Shearer, to go to Geneva in 1927 and break up the Coolidge Naval Disarmament Conference. Shearer wined and dined the admirals, fed anti-disarmament propaganda to the press, later collected $40,000 from the shipbuilders and the steel companies. The conference was a failure.

Under Herbert Hoover, another Republican president, the Senate investigated all this, showed how A. B. Homer et al were more interested in selling steel plate for naval vessels than they wanted peace. At that time, under a Republican president, the Senate had no trouble getting the steel executives to answer subpoenas. Now, however, Republican Leader Dirksen says it will.

Note — It will be interesting to see how certain Senators who were quick to vote contempt citations against McCarthy witnesses where human rights were involved, will now vote where property rights are involved.

Mrs. Bolton Protects Shrine

"The battle of sewage" is being fought over one of the great shrines of America, George Washington's home at Mount Vernon, by two Ohio members of Congress.

One, who is defending George Washington's home, is Mrs. Frances Bolton, Republican, of Cleveland Heights. The other, who seems to favor a sewage plant opposite the stately home of the father of the country, is Mike Kirwan, Democrat, of Youngstown.

The battle has gone so far that Mrs. Bolton with her own money last week bought up and gave to the National Park Service 155 acres of land on the banks of the Potomac directly opposite Mount Vernon. It is here that the Prince Georges County Sanitary Commission wants to build a sewage disposal plant, egged on by real-estate developers who propose a residential area alongside.

At present, the view from Mount Vernon is a beautiful one, relatively unspoiled from the days when the founding father of the country looked across at the Maryland shore. To ruin it with the smokestacks of a sewage plant, shopping centers, and cheap housing has offended a great many Washingtonians — but apparently not the Congressman from Youngstown, Mike Kirwan.

So when Congress last year set aside 1,186 acres of the Maryland shoreline opposite Mount Vernon for the public, Kirwan promptly squelched it. As chairman of the powerful Appropriations Subcommittee on Park, he killed most of the money.

Kirwan has an interesting record regarding river development.

He seems susceptible to pressures from real estate people and big business. When the U. S. Steel Corporation wanted $90,000,000 from Congress to deepen the Delaware River for its ore boats, Kirwan made various speeches opposing this as a waste of the taxpayers' money. But when Ben Fairless, head of U. S. Steel, Mike changed his tune.

He immediately pushed through the $90,000,000 for U. S. Steel and its deepening of the Delaware.

Just what Kirwan's motives are in wanting a sewage plant and a real-estate development in front of Mount Vernon, remain obscure. But Mrs. Bolton's motives are not.

A lady of vigor, charm, and wealth, she proceeded to use her wealth to acquire 505 acres of the Maryland shore for the Accokeek Historical Foundation which she heads. Of this, she donated 155 acres last week to the government, and will give the remaining 350 acres when the Interior Department acquires adjacent lands and scenic easements to preserve the historic shoreline.

Pylos And The Human Scale Of Ancient War

By Joseph Alsop

PYLOS, Greece

Even in the bright Greek air, under the golden Green sun, Sphacteria seems sullen and uninviting. It is hard to imagine anything happening since history began on this narrow, barren islet which is a mere continuation of the coastal cliffs.

Yet this rocky islet of Sphacteria, which supports no life, is still peopled by old ghosts who have a tale to tell that is worth hearing, even today.

The time was in the first great age of the story of the West, after the Greeks had routed the countless hosts of Persia. Athens, bold, ingenious, and free, was then the strongest seapower in the world, and the strongest landpower was hard, totalitarian Sparta. Thus the first great war of the West began when Athens and Sparta and their allies came to blows.

Early in this Peloponnesian War, one of Athens's shrewdest generals, tough, penny-pinching Demosthenes, seized a base here, on the Pylian headland across the narrow strait from Sphacteria. It was a poor enough base, very hastily fortified.

To build the walls, the Athenian troops even had to "carry the mortar on their backs since they had no hods, stooping down so as to carry as much as possible, and clasping their hands behind them to prevent it from slipping off." Yet Demosthenes had chosen his base astutely.

Pylos is in Messenia; and the Spartans had long since conquered this region and made all the Messenians into Helots — rural slaves who worked the land while the ruling Spartans, whose only work was war, passed their days in military exercises. The base in Pylos therefore threatened Sparta with a Messenian guerrilla revolt. So the Spartans mustered a strong force to drive Demosthenes and his men from their craggy fort.

There was a sharp, hot fight. The ships of Athens arrived in the nick of time to support Demosthenes from hte seaward side. And now the besiegers became the besieged, for the strong Athenian fleet trapped and blockaded a part of the Spartan force which had been posted on rocky Sphacteria.

This swift disaster moved the Spartan ephors to send ambassadors to Athens to sue for peace. In truth, the first great war of the West might have ended on rocky Sphacteria if the demagogue, Cleon, had not spurred the men of Athens to raise the price of peace beyond all reason.

So the blockade continued, and for a while the Spartans on the island were part-supplied by underwater swimmers towing skins full of honey and pounded linseed. Yet the men on Sphacteria must have been disheartened by the long blockade. For in the end, Cleon the demagogue, now promoted to a general of Athens, was able to overwhelm the Spartans by a surprise landing with a heavily superior force.

Bullfights.

Well, sir, when someone first mentioned bullfights for the girls, I said: "They'd hate bullfights. My daughter loves animals. You should see her with a kitten. A bullfight would make them sick." I maintained this pose for half the summer. Then the girls wore me down. They weren't going to come to Spain and not see a bullfight. So I said all right. One bullfight. I explained that six bulls were killed in an afternoon. If they were too sickened by the sight of the first bull, they could leave and wait for us in the car.

Leave? Ha! Sickened? Ho! They adore bullfights. They would travel over mountains (they have traveled over mountains) to see another one. You can't club them away from los toros. Already they're spouting bullfight language — the "faena," the "natuarles," the "corrida," the works. Tender young shoots! Where did I ever get that idea? The other day we headed over a mountain to a distant bullring and the car broke down. We never got there. Later I told them: "You didn't miss much. Mediocre bullfight. One matador was gored."

Two stricken faces: "Gored! And we missed it!" I don't want you to get the impression the poor little things have been totally deprived of the sight of gorings. They've seen one of Ordonez's cuadrilla catch it in the ring. They also saw an attendant badly gored when the bull jumped the barricade. They have those two lovely moments to treasure. I don't know how they're ever going to readjust to television. All those little twelve-inch figures hiting each other in the face. Pretty mild stuff for growing girls.

Now, let's see. What other nice healthy Spanish amusements have they learned to know and love? Well, cafe life. They adore sitting in sidewalk cafes speculating about the sex lives of the passersby. Some of the speculations would make your blood run cold. Well, anyway, they make my blood run cold. (Where did they learn all those things?)

They haven't seen a movie all summer — and I think it's very wholesome that their impressionable little minds were given a rest. So what takes the place of the movies? Well, last night they went to the opening of a new night club — where the pot smokers and the drinkers reveled until dawn. (But I didn't keep them out until dawn, mothers. They were safely tucked away in bed by three, like good little girls everywhere.)

Now as to their drinking habits, mothers. They're not allowed more than a bottle of wine for each meal, and apart from a glass of sangria here and an occasional glass of champagne, nothing between meals. Then there's the waiting on that they've grown used to. Here they drop their filthy garments on the floor and by nightfall they're washed and ironed for the next day. When they want something, they are accustomed to clapping their hands sharply — and a servant comes and gives it to them. So, when you hear the sound of clapping when they come home, that means: hop to it.

But don't despair. I think they'll readjust to American ways in — well, maybe six months. Or we could sell them in the slave market in Arabia and start afresh with other girls. Meanwhile, if any of you other mothers of teenage girls would like to entrust your innocents to my hands, I'm thinking of starting Crosby's Educational Tours for Teenage Girls. I absolutely guarantee they'll come home new women. Send for my free folder.

Electronic Device Aids Walking After Stroke

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A lightweight, transistorized, electronic device can be worn to stimulate a paralyzed muscle in the leg. It permits the stroke victim to walk in a relatively normal manner without the use of a brace. The successful use of this stimulator was reported recently in the Journal Lancet by Dr. John H. Moe and Herbert W. Post of Minneapolis.

The portable stimulator weighs less than 7 ounces and is worn on the belt. One electrode is placed over the muscle that pulls up the foot, the other over the calf muscle. The electrodes are held in place with an elastic cuff. The switch is placed under the heel inside the shoe.

The stroke victim develops foot-drop and, with each step, must lift the leg high and throw the foot forward. Unless this is done, the toes scrape on the ground and trip the individual. The purpose of this new device is to prevent the drop by lifting the foot.

The switch goes on the moment the heel is raised off the ground in preparation for the next step. At this moment, the muscle is stimulated to pull up the foot. The switch goes off as soon as the heel touches the ground.

Electronic devices have been used for many years to treat paralyzed muscles. The stimulation improves circulation and retards atrophy and the replacement of the muscle fibers by scar tissue. It hastens recovery by bringing back the active function of muscles. The individual gets the feel of how the muscle pulls up the toes and the foot.

The use of the stimulator combines treatment with ordinary activity. It does not solve all the problems of the stroke victim but it helps. For one thing, the person does not tire as easily while walking.

TIRED AT 20

R. S. writes: I'm 20 years old and always tired. When I was in high school I went in for strenuous sports and often stayed up most of the night cramming for exams. My doctor can find no physical cause for my fatigue. Do you think I have worn out my physical machine and will never be able to lead a full life?

REPLY

Your physical machine should not wear out for another 40 or 50 years. Emotional fatigue is more common than physical fatigue and this is a good possibility in your case, since your physician could not find a physical cause.

FLUIDS WITH INFECTION

A. J. writes: Why is it important to drink lots of fluid with a cold?

REPLY

Because the individual perspires freely and may not feel like eating. Fruit juices, milk, and broth supply some nourishment to help maintain strength and the liquid part prevents dehydration.

LEMON SQUEEZER

Mrs. B. writes: Will taking lemon juice every morning break up the fatty tissues in the stomach and prevent that middle aged spread?

REPLY

No—not even the juice of a young lemon.

SKIN CANCER

S. B. writes: Can cancer of the face grow inward to the internal organs?

REPLY

Yes, if you mean spread (metastasize). This is not common, however, because most skin cancers are treated before reaching this stage.

LAX LIDS

M. S. writes: What is the explanation of loss of elasticity of the skin of the eyelids?

REPLY

All tissues lose their elasticity through age, like old rubber bands. This is more noticeable in tissues that are likely to sag.

LARGE ORDER

D. R. writes: Please send all the information you have on what they are doing to find the cause and cure of cancer.

REPLY

You forgot to enclose a moving van with your request.

BREAD, MEAT, PRESSURE

M. S. writes: Does eating too much bread and meat raise the blood pressure?

REPLY

Not unless the excessive calories increase weight in a person who is a potential hypertensive.

HYPNOSIS FOR BLUSHING

B. S. writes: Can blushing be cured by hypnosis?

REPLY

Yes, provided the cause is amenable to psychotherapy, in which the psychiatrist uses hypnosis.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Then there's the worried lady who called her doctor to report, "My husband has suddenly gone off his rocker. He seems to think he's George Washington." "When can I see him?" asked the doctor. "Just take a look out of your window," said the lady. "He's out in your backyard chopping down your cherry tree."

A wise man and a country bumpkin found themselves sharing a seat for a long bus ride and decided to ask each other riddles to pass the time. "When I miss a riddle," proposed the wise man, "I'll pay you a dollar, but seeing that I've had educational training that was beyond you, when you miss a riddle, you need only pay me fifty cents." "Done and done," agreed the bumpkin, "and I've got my first riddle ready for you right now. What is it that has three legs when it walks and only two when it flies?" "I give up," said the wiseman, "and here's my dollar forfeit. What's the answer?" "I don't know either," admitted the bumpkin and handed back fifty cents.

A limerick from A. Bilgewasser, of Newport News, Va.:

There was a young lady from Goa,
Whose timepiece ran slower and sloa.
When it finally stopped
They said "If not dropped,
We suggest that you wind it some moa."

You're Telling Me

A JUST released Washington report shows there now are only 971 men to every 1,000 women in the U. S. However, take it calmly, you bachelors — Leap Year is not until 1964!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — My typewriter taps with nostalgia the news that Brigitte Bardot will star in "The Life of Gaby Delys" and George Chakiris will play Harry Pilser, the accompanist and devoted admirer of the great French musical comedy star.

Brigitte is perfect to play the dashing Gaby whose escapades were the talk of two continents at the turn of the century.

Years after her death, I remember visiting the apartment of Harry Pilser in Paris and he still kept the shrine he erected in her memory. To the day of his death he spoke of Gaby as though she were still alive.

Chakiris, now in Tokyo in "Flight from Ashiya," goes to Paris when the picture is finished to begin this under the direction of Roger Vadim—Brigitte's ex-husband and still her favorite director.

Dillion Macarthy, member of Parliament, has a hot nerve proclaiming from the floor of the House that 80 per cent f objectionable movies "come from the United States." Oh, come on!

I agree that two of his targets "Lolita" and "The Chapman Report" aren't for the kiddies. But compared to some of the smut from French and Italian producers, these two movies are mild stuff.

Of course, all these official "pannings" in England wind up just as they do in the U.S.A.: the public beats a path to the box office to view anything labeled "adults only."

Now that Peter Lawford has signed Elizabeth Montgomery for her first (movie) starring part opposite Henry Silva in "Johnny Cool," her husband Gig Young will have to share honors as the sole screen actor in the family. "I thought I was glued in TV," says Liz, "until Peter Lawford came along and rescued me with this very vivid part in his film." (Pete isn't in it—just producing.)

It's a switch for Liz who usually plays wronged wives in TV. Her love scenes with Silva are so torrid she says Gig swears he's going to come on the set and act as chaperone.

My heart goes out to Kippie (14) and Betty (16), daughters of the late Ernie Kovacs, who have been brought up by Edie Adams for eight years. They have been accustomed to the advantages that Ernie and Edie gave them. At their age, it would be a pity to take them from their home.

Seems strange that all of a sudden their natural mother decided she wants them when she really hasn't been in touch with them all these years. Edie is going to put up a fight, and I think the girls should be consulted in the decision. Ernie's money was pretty well tied up after his death, and Edie has worked very hard to support her two adopted daughters.

The songs from "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off" are so well known that Broadway can look to a smash hit when the play moves to New York from London. Anthony Newley, who wrote the music, comes to this country with his songs already played and sung by our popular recording artists.

"What Kind of a Fool Am I" has been recorded by Sammy Davis and Keely Smith, as well as Newley, who is England's No. 1 recording star. Hollywood no doubt will try to get him for a movie while he's in this country with his show.

You don't get any beefs out of Richard Greene over the years and years his "Robin Hood" TV show has been running. The British actor, who once toiled for 20th Century-Fox, has become a bloomin' millionaire since he returned to his native land and started cavorting through Sherwood Forest as the dashing bandit.

Thanks to "Robin Hood," Greene is now the owner of a 400-acre farm and a handsome Georgian home near Dublin, manages a horse breeding stable and grows enough vegetables to market—when he isn't cruising on his yacht.

Oh, yes—Richard also acquired a new wife, an heiress, Viva Robin Hood!

At the Sue and Alan Ladd party someone asked Lita (Baron) Calhoun (who's such a good dancer) to do a hula. "I can't," she whispered, "I'm pregnant."

Ernie Borgnine, just parted again from Katy Jurado, came to the Ladd Luau with Bill Bendix and his wife, and Ernie swore his date was with Lorraine, the Bendix's daughter.

Tony Owen and Donna Reed were celebrating Tony's miraculous recuperation from an operation on his throat. If he hadn't undergone surgery for the growth, his doctors feared for his life.

You can't take away Frank Sinatra's loyalty to his old friends. He sent for Rose and Patsy D'Amore to come to Lake Tahoe for Labor Day. If you say anything about Frankie, Patsy would gladly cut your throat.

Agness Underwood, city editor of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, is the guest of honor at a champagne tea given by the California press women. She's been named "Woman of Achievement" in the NFPW annual writers contest. Aggie is one of the great newspaperwomen of our day.

Anyone with a love of plants will wince over the $80,000 worth in the 20th Century-Fox nursery. No provision has been made to water the valuable shrubs and they are gradually withering away.

Harold Fender, plagiarism attorney, plans a trip to Moscow, but it would be a shock if he gets satisfaction for the American writers whose works have freely been printed in Russia without any consideration of royalties.

Billy Wilder's assistant, Jerome Seigel, and his wife, the former Maxine Mirisch (Harold Mirisch's daughter), have named their new son Mark.

Maureen O'Hara and her Mexican boyfriend Enrique Parra, hosted a party at Jerry Lewis' honoring Guido Sora, the Italian ambassador to Mexico.

W. Va. Counties In Labor Survey

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — The last in a series of surveys by the West Virginia Employment Security Department designed to provide information concerning the labor force in the Mountain State will be launched within the next two weeks.

The counties involved in the survey include Berkeley, Jefferson, Morgan, Grant, Mineral, Hampshire, Hardy, Pendleton, Randolph and Tucker. Reports of future labor needs and problems for the state's other 45 counties have been previously released.

The surveys are expected to provide data which will be useful in planning job training programs and other economic projects in the state.

Decision Protested

SAIGON (UPI)—Six foreign correspondents in South Viet Nam Wednesday protested the government's decision to expel Newsweek correspondent Francois Sully. The correspondents said the move was "an attempt to intimidate the others."

The protest was made in an open letter to President Ngo Dinh Diem. A copy was sent to U.S. President John F. Kennedy.

The letter was signed by representatives here of United Press International, Associated Press, New York Times, Time Magazine, Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co.

Secrets Of Charm

Fall Goes High-Hat!

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Definitely making headway on the fall fashion scene is millinery's version of the "spare look" —elegantly towering hats, their narrow crowns soaring back from the brow or pitching forward into profile.

And that's not all. Hatmakers have drawn inspiration from a fabulous assortment of unexpected sources—and come up with one of the widest, and wildest, collection of chapeaux seen in years.

There are leather and fur kerchiefs that wrap around heads. The wrap-around theme is carried over into hoods, snoods and stocking caps, too. Even wide-brimmed dress hats and turbans are draped with enveloping clouds that double as scarves . . . with very romantic and feminine results.

The influence of the 30's is still strong, especially in the casual styles that are captivating addicts of those late-late movies on TV. (Obviously, a healthy cross-section of that late-late audience is made up of hat designers!)

So, the neo-Garbo slouched fedora is back . . . and the British-flavored bowler, the homburg, the riding topper, the tam and beret, the sculptured cloche.

Another newsmaker in the headlines is the little-boy cap, reminiscent of the era when Horatio Alger was the idol of every struggling young newsboy. But unlike their shapeless and utilitarian originals, today's caps are sleekly styled and tailored in felt or tweed . . . and even in such lush fabric-duos as reversible wool jersey and mink!

Hat fashions like these hint that hairdos are due for big changes, too, if they are to belong under the new bonnets. Trends point toward spare shaping and simplicity in arrangement . . . both welcome changes to eyes, like mine, that are tired of seeing pretty heads turned into cauliflowers.

Every time you read about the "spare look," remind yourself to study the ways to adapt your own silhouette to the demands of this new dimension in design. Since foundation garments are the key to figure proportion, you'll find my pamphlet, "Figured For You," an invaluable aid.

Send for a copy today by writing to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, enclosing 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Five End Simulated 2-Week Space Trip

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (UPI)—Five volunteers returned from a simulated two-week space trip Tuesday, long enough to have completed 336 orbits of the earth.

The test at Republic Aviation Corp.'s space laboratory was designed to test human reactions and work performance when pure oxygen rather than air is breathed over a prolonged period. It was conducted for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

The men who finished the experiment Tuesday were the last of four groups tested. Dr. William Helvey, chief of the space laboratory, said they "performed satisfactorily" but a complete analysis of data will take several weeks.

Elkins Firm Receives Loan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Approval of a $310,500 loan to the Elkins, W. Va., Industrial Development Corp., was announced Tuesday by the Small Business Administration (SBA).

The money will be used to construct a building for Reidbord Brothers Co. The firm, which now employes 270 persons, expects to hire an additional 400, SBA said.

The loan will mature in 25 years, SBA said.

John William Foreit Jr., of Woodbridge, Va., and operator of the boat, was charged by the TFC with reckless and negligent operation of a boat.

PEACE OR WAR? TESTING; APPEASEMENT — All peace-loving Americans must give strong support for the President's decision to resume nuclear testing, for the greatest deterrent to war today is our superiority in nuclear weaponry, and we can maintain that superiority only by testing. While we must support the President's position in this respect, we must criticize the policy of appeasement being demonstrated at the Geneva Conference. There is no hope for a peaceful settlement with the Communist tyrants as long as the United States follows the weak policy of appeasement in dealing with the Russians. The effect of U. S. concessions to Russia on a future test ban is to picture this country as having no firm position, as backing away from its earlier stand.

Anyone who has followed events knows the good faith of the United States in the matter of nuclear testing. For 16 years, the United States has devised and presented plans for ending the race in nuclear arms, and for 16 years the Soviets have knocked our disarmament proposals in the head. Again, our representatives in Geneva present a proposal — a concession to the Soviets — and again the Soviets brush it aside. We had a moratorium on nuclear testing, but the Soviets broke that moratorium, as the whole world knows. Yet, thousands of men and women who are against nuclear testing are demonstrating primarily against the United States. There are sit-down demonstrations in Times Square, not in Red Square. There is rioting outside American embassies, not outside Soviet embassies. There is a hue and cry when we announce a testing program, but virtual silence when the Soviets announce their testing programs.

Now, pacifism has an honorable history, dating back to the early days of the human race. It comes from religious conviction on the part of sincere people who, as a matter of high principle, are against killing of man by man, whether with slings, bows and arrows, gunpowder, or bombs. The position of these people has in it the elements of the heroic. It is a far cry from the shabby antics of the nuclear pacifists, concerned not with conscience but with plain animal fear.

So, we have two distinct kinds of pacifists. It's unfortunate that so many honorable pacifists have made common cause with the strange, twisted nuclear pacifists. It is to be hoped that the sincere pacifists, concerned with the saving of his fellow man, will recognize the vast difference between saying, "I'd rather be dead than kill a fellow human being," and uttering the current unpatriotic slogan, "Better Red than dead!"

ADMINISTRATION FAILURE ON FARM LEGISLATION — Congress is not buying the Kennedy Administration program of rigid crop control, of virtual Federal management of private farms. The bill which passed the Senate, 47 to 37, last Wednesday and was sent to the House for consideration is a watered-down, stop-gap extension of the program now in effect. The original Kennedy farm program would have the federal government stepping into virtually every facet of farming, extending its controls, despite the poor showing of the subsidy program thus far. To this, the people say "No". Despite the results of various polls, the Department of Agriculture goes on its merry way trying to find political solutions for our farm problems. Scandals continue to pile up as a result of the ridiculous program. While the Billie Sol Estes case is still sizzling, other shenanigans are coming to light. The illegal sale of Federal rice quotas is being investigated. It is charged that private cotton brokers, with the help of the Department of Agriculture, sold $400,000,000 worth of Government cotton to themselves at below-market prices, and then resold it and pocketed the profits. All of this crookedness stems from a program which empowers bureaucrats to enter markets for the express purpose of rigging them. As long as we have Big Government reaching out to touch important facets of farming, that long shall we have opportunity for favors, payoffs, abuses and racketeering in agriculture.

Sensing the general feeling in Congress, the Administration abandoned all efforts to assume tight production controls, and proposed only a continuation of the voluntary program plus a wheat marketing certificate plan, which would require two-thirds approval by the farmers in a 1963 referendum. The idea of bushel-limitation rather than acre-limitation was advanced to prevent resourceful farmers from stepping up production by heavy fertilization of acres not taken out of production.

I'm against the whole farm-subsidy principle, and I voted against the farm bill. Although the amendment of Senator Tower of Texas looking to the ultimate ending of the subsidy program was defeated, you can look for the position reflected in the Tower Amendment to gain strength in Congress in future sessions.

The American farmer doesn't want to be protected, coddled, babied, or bullied. He wants to manage his own affairs. To this end, he wants the highly expensive subsidy-and-control program gradually eased off and brought to a merciful end. The whole system is inimical to the American way of life.

DULLES AIRPORT BOONDOGGLE: UNFAIR COMPETITION— Under present circumstances, the Federally financed Dulles Airport at Chantilly, Virginia, which will, I believe, cost the taxpayers some $150,000,000 before it's finished, would have an unfair advantage over its competitor, the Friendship International Airport, midway between Washington and Baltimore, and, for this reason, I have introduced a bill to transfer administrative responsibility for the operation of Dulles and Washington National Airport from the obviously biased Federal Aviation Agency to an unbiased Washington Airports Board. The FAA favors the Dulles boondoggle, and it would be too much to expect that agency to be able to render fair decisions as to which airport, Dulles or Friendship, each of the various airlines is to use.

CONFUSION CONFOUNDED AND THE TALKING LOBSTER— The filibuster against the President's Communications Satellite Bill pointed up some of the confusion which has arisen on matters of national legislation. The debate illustrated the current imperfect understanding of major issues. Opponents of the President's proposed corporation seemed to be worried that the corporation would carry on business negotiations abroad which might give the Bell Telephone System a dominant position in foreign affairs, but they never explained this. Though the President's proposal is a strictly American plan, promoting free enterprise, it was attacked by Americans. It is hard to understand the desire on anyone's part to set up a government monopoly — hard to understand the evident distate for free enterprise, which is the goose that lays golden eggs for America. Why should anyone want to destroy it or limit its activity? Now, of course, some of the opponents of the Telstar bill are from States benefiting handsomely from big government power projects, such as TVA — and their siding with government ownership, as against free enterprise, is understandable. However, they spoke reproachfully of "government give-aways," while, as a matter of fact, they have been the beneficiaries of the biggest "government give-aways" in history. Some wag once said that the Tennessee River flows through 2 States and drains the other 48.

For another classic example of confusion on major legislation, take "Medicare." The people who favor it, generally speaking, do not recognize its shortcomings. Many joined in the well-organized ballyhoo for "King-Anderson" without understanding that it was a "millionaires' bill" and would be quite inadequate for the elderly in need. Some who say they favor "King-Anderson" say it only because they have been told to say it, while they don't know what "King-Anderson" is.

Then, there's the double talk about the Foreign Trade Bill.

Contemplating the general state of confusion and the double talk, I'm reminded of the story of the man and the lobster. Carrying the lobster along the street, this man met a friend who inquired, "Where're you going with that lobster?" The man replied, "I'm taking him home for dinner." The lobster looked up and said, "I've had my dinner; let's go to a movie."

More than three million Americans now live on wheels. These are mobile homes where dwellers reside in some 12,000 such parks throughout the United States.

LITTLE WOMEN

Bratwurst Berlin Style

18 pork sausages (bratwurst)
1 tablespoon butter
2 cups thinly sliced onions
2 cups beer or ale
6 peppercorns
1 bay leaf

Pour boiling water over the sausages; drain and dry. Brown the sausages in butter, then remove them and drain off all but 2 tablespoons of the fat. Saute the onions in the fat for 10 minutes. Return the sausages and add the beer, peppercorns and bay leaf. Cover and cook over low heat 20 minutes. YIELD: 6 servings.

Sensing the general feeling in Congress, the Administration abandoned all efforts to assume tight production controls, and proposed only a continuation of the voluntary program plus a wheat marketing certificate plan, which would require two-thirds approval by the farmers in a 1963 referendum. The idea of bushel-limitation rather than acre-limitation was advanced to prevent resourceful farmers from stepping up production by heavy fertilization of acres not taken out of production.

I'm against the whole farm-subsidy principle, and I voted against the farm bill. Although the amendment of Senator Tower of Texas looking to the ultimate ending of the subsidy program was defeated, you can look for the position reflected in the Tower Amendment to gain strength in Congress in future sessions.

The American farmer doesn't want to be protected, coddled, babied, or bullied. He wants to manage his own affairs. To this end, he wants the highly expensive subsidy-and-control program gradually eased off and brought to a merciful end. The whole system is inimical to the American way of life.

DULLES AIRPORT BOONDOGGLE: UNFAIR COMPETITION— Under present circumstances, the Federally financed Dulles Airport at Chantilly, Virginia, which will, I believe, cost the taxpayers some $150,000,000 before it's finished, would have an unfair advantage over its competitor, the Friendship International Airport, midway between Washington and Baltimore, and, for this reason, I have introduced a bill to transfer administrative responsibility for the operation of Dulles and Washington National Airport from the obviously biased Federal Aviation Agency to an unbiased Washington Airports Board. The FAA favors the Dulles boondoggle, and it would be too much to expect that agency to be able to render fair decisions as to which airport, Dulles or Friendship, each of the various airlines is to use.

CONFUSION CONFOUNDED AND THE TALKING LOBSTER— The filibuster against the President's Communications Satellite Bill pointed up some of the confusion which has arisen on matters of national legislation. The debate illustrated the current imperfect understanding of major issues. Opponents of the President's proposed corporation seemed to be worried that the corporation would carry on business negotiations abroad which might give the Bell Telephone System a dominant position in foreign affairs, but they never explained this. Though the President's proposal is a strictly American plan, promoting free enterprise, it was attacked by Americans. It is hard to understand the desire on anyone's part to set up a government monopoly — hard to understand the evident distate for free enterprise, which is the goose that lays golden eggs for America. Why should anyone want to destroy it or limit its activity? Now, of course, some of the opponents of the Telstar bill are from States benefiting handsomely from big government power projects, such as TVA — and their siding with government ownership, as against free enterprise, is understandable. However, they spoke reproachfully of "government give-aways," while, as a matter of fact, they have been the beneficiaries of the biggest "government give-aways" in history. Some wag once said that the Tennessee River flows through 2 States and drains the other 48.

For another classic example of confusion on major legislation, take "Medicare." The people who favor it, generally speaking, do not recognize its shortcomings. Many joined in the well-organized ballyhoo for "King-Anderson" without understanding that it was a "millionaires' bill" and would be quite inadequate for the elderly in need. Some who say they favor "King-Anderson" say it only because they have been told to say it, while they don't know what "King-Anderson" is.

Then, there's the double talk about the Foreign Trade Bill.

Contemplating the general state of confusion and the double talk, I'm reminded of the story of the man and the lobster. Carrying the lobster along the street, this man met a friend who inquired, "Where're you going with that lobster?" The man replied, "I'm taking him home for dinner." The lobster looked up and said, "I've had my dinner; let's go to a movie."

More than three million Americans now live on wheels. These are mobile homes where dwellers reside in some 12,000 such parks throughout the United States.

"And be sure to oil the battery and water the tires."

Bratwurst Berlin Style

18 pork sausages (bratwurst)
1 tablespoon butter
2 cups thinly sliced onions
2 cups beer or ale
6 peppercorns
1 bay leaf

Pour boiling water over the sausages; drain and dry. Brown the sausages in butter, then remove them and drain off all but 2 tablespoons of the fat. Saute the onions in the fat for 10 minutes. Return the sausages and add the beer, peppercorns and bay leaf. Cover and cook over low heat 20 minutes. YIELD: 6 servings.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

A dramatic event of the past week in Washington was the passage by the House of Representatives of the Public Works Coordination and Acceleration Act.

As long as thousands of people in Western Maryland are unemployed and underemployed, no valid opportunity to create jobs should be denied them. For this reason, it seemed essential to me to join with the other Appalachian-area Congressmen of both parties in supporting the Public Works Coordination and Acceleration Act. This measure passed the the House of Representatives on August 29 by a rollcall vote of 221 to 192.

The bill is intended to stimulate capital investment in utilities that will be economically useful in the future of America. Basically, the legislation provides $900 million for projects approved according to the standards and guidelines set out in the bill. To be eligible for this assistance, a project must be located in an area designated for economic aid under the area redevelopment act or in a community which has suffered six percent or more unemployment for nine out of the past twelve months.

I regret very much that in our own Sixth Congressional District we have three such areas. They are in the Hagerstown labor-market area in Washington County, the Cumberland labor-market area in Allegany County, and Garrett County. I hope that some of the funds provided under this public works bill will be expended in our district, where it is so desperately needed, where unemployment has been a persistent problem for a number of years and has been acute during the past several winters.

What sort of projects will be possible under this bill? There are projects now on the planning boards in various Maryland communities that could be assisted.

Water systems are much needed in Western Maryland if new industry is to be attracted into these communities. There is existing industry which would like to expand but cannot do so until there is more water. The construction of such water systems could be tied in with the planned construction of some impounding dams on the upper reaches of the Potomac River, both its main stems and its tributaries, and this source of water would be extremely helpful in making industry come into the area and creating more permanent jobs for Maryland citizens.

In addition, the funds would be available for the expansion of recreational facilities in Maryland's public lands, both Federal and State owned. I believe this could provide a significant long-range investment in the tourist industry of Western Maryland.

The funds, of course, are available on a matching-fund basis. This provision was amended during debate on the bill by a motion made by Congressman Scranton of Pennsylvania which provided that instead of 50 percent, in the case of those local governments which do not have the financial capacity to assume the financing of projects, the Federal government could assist to the extent of 75 percent. This will be helpful to some of our local governments which have had difficulties with local financing.

The bill was much improved by the Public Works Committee. It is a very different bill from that originally proposed. The original proposal to delegate standby powers to the President was deleted. Financing is to be provided by orthodox appropriation measures which will give the Congress the power to appraise the administration of the program. The creation of a public works "czar" was vetoed by an amendment adopted by the House. I am very hopeful that the bill will bring to the many Maryland citizens who have been denied permanent work for months and years the opportunity for permanent employment.

Summertime Cooler --- Apple Cream Freeze

Of course, Apple Cream Freeze may be served any time as a light, frozen dessert for a summer meal . . . and a refreshing one it is. But it's perhaps more fun to spoon the Freeze into individual paper containers and tuck them away in the freezer, ready for instant serving in garden or patio of a lazy afternoon or evening. No fuss, no dishes to wash . . . just trot them out when a friend or family gather . . . an icy-cool special treat that cheers and revives.

As for the Freeze itself . . . its main ingredient is canned apple sauce, for light body and apple tang. You go on from there, adding crushed pineapple and brown sugar, cinnamon and sour cream . . . which are on the refreshing, zesty side as you can see. As a pretty top-off, each serving is capped with chopped nuts and maraschino cherries. Then to the freezer, to emerge when needed, crispy icy and fruity.

The quantities given here make six individual servings. Could be you'd want to double or triple that, for these little Cream Freezes are a real joy to have on hand for the informal, light hearted social get-togethers of summer.

APPLE CREAM FREEZE

- 2 cups canned apple sauce
- ¾ cup drained crushed pineapple
- ½ cup light brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped nuts
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped maraschino cherries

Combine apple sauce with drained pineapple. Add sugar mixed with cinnamon; stir to dissolve. Blend in sour cream. Place in freezing compartment. When mixture has frozen about one inch around edges, remove and beat until smooth. Pour into six 4-ounce food containers; sprinkle with nuts and dot with cherries. Cover. Return to freezer. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Or pour mixture in a quart-sized mold or container . . .to be spooned into serving dishes.

Wife Preservers

When ironing napkins or anything square or oblong, begin with the corners, getting them properly right-angled, to avoid distorting the weave.

Slightly soiled singletone rugs clean beautifully with cornmeal. Work it into the pile with a stiff brush, then vacuum it out.

Week's Food Economics

Encourage every family member to full participation in a good breakfast every single morning. September has been designated as Better Breakfast Month, but starting the day with an adequate meal should be of concern every month of the year, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office, Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

Breakfast is the easiest meal of all to plan and prepare and the most economical. Check and see that the breakfast gives staying power, from rich proteins such as eggs, milk, meats or cheese and energy power and growing power from carbohydrate foods in form of breads and cereals. It should contain vitamins for vigor, and minerals which are supplied in form of juices or fresh fruits.

Eggs are recommended as an economy and one of the best buys in food value. The current prices are low on medium and small size eggs. For breakfast eggs, Grade A quality is recommended. Keeping eggs in the refrigerator clean, cool and covered.

Now is the time to put frozen orange juice on your market list. The all-important Vitamin C which cannot be stored in the body must be furnished daily and citrus is one of the richest sources. Orange juice is one of the best buys, supplies are record large and cost per serving is low.

If you survey the market you will find an array of other tempting breakfast foods. Dry or cooked cereals and breads have been enriched with B vitamins and iron. Breakfast meats are attractively priced.

The list of best buys for the other meals you serve include white potatoes, sweet corn and tomatoes from the produce counter. Receipts of white potatoes are increasing. While the supply of local and nearby sweet corn and tomatoes lasts use them generously. There is also a wide choice of other vegetables. The fruit counter offers the best buys in peaches, Bartlett pears and grapes. Elbertas and J. H. Hale peaches are on the market. Seckel pears are available. Italian prunes are in the markets.

Cranberry Cream Salad

- 1 package cherry-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 (1-lb.) can Whole Berry Cranberry Sauce
- ½ cup diced celery
- ¼ cup commercial sour cream

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Let chill until slightly thickened. Break up cranberry sauce with fork. Stir into gelatin with celery and walnuts. Fold in sour cream. Pour into a 1-quart mold and chill until firm. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

No fuss, no dishes to wash . . . just trot them out when a friend or family gather . . . an icy-cool special treat that cheers and revives.

As for the Freeze itself . . . its main ingredient is canned apple sauce, for light body and apple tang. You go on from there, adding crushed pineapple and brown sugar, cinnamon and sour cream . . . which are on the refreshing, zesty side as you can see. As a pretty top-off, each serving is capped with chopped nuts and maraschino cherries. Then to the freezer, to emerge when needed, crispy icy and fruity.

The quantities given here make six individual servings. Could be you'd want to double or triple that, for these little Cream Freezes are a real joy to have on hand for the informal, light hearted social get-togethers of summer.

APPLE CREAM FREEZE

- 2 cups canned apple sauce
- ¾ cup drained crushed pineapple
- ½ cup light brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped nuts
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped maraschino cherries

Combine apple sauce with drained pineapple. Add sugar mixed with cinnamon; stir to dissolve. Blend in sour cream. Place in freezing compartment. When mixture has frozen about one inch around edges, remove and beat until smooth. Pour into six 4-ounce food containers; sprinkle with nuts and dot with cherries. Cover. Return to freezer. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Or pour mixture in a quart-sized mold or container . . .to be spooned into serving dishes.

Wife Preservers

When ironing napkins or anything square or oblong, begin with the corners, getting them properly right-angled, to avoid distorting the weave.

Slightly soiled singletone rugs clean beautifully with cornmeal. Work it into the pile with a stiff brush, then vacuum it out.

Week's Food Economics

Encourage every family member to full participation in a good breakfast every single morning. September has been designated as Better Breakfast Month, but starting the day with an adequate meal should be of concern every month of the year, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office, Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

Breakfast is the easiest meal of all to plan and prepare and the most economical. Check and see that the breakfast gives staying power, from rich proteins such as eggs, milk, meats or cheese and energy power and growing power from carbohydrate foods in form of breads and cereals. It should contain vitamins for vigor, and minerals which are supplied in form of juices or fresh fruits.

Eggs are recommended as an economy and one of the best buys in food value. The current prices are low on medium and small size eggs. For breakfast eggs, Grade A quality is recommended. Keeping eggs in the refrigerator clean, cool and covered.

Now is the time to put frozen orange juice on your market list. The all-important Vitamin C which cannot be stored in the body must be furnished daily and citrus is one of the richest sources. Orange juice is one of the best buys, supplies are record large and cost per serving is low.

If you survey the market you will find an array of other tempting breakfast foods. Dry or cooked cereals and breads have been enriched with B vitamins and iron. Breakfast meats are attractively priced.

The list of best buys for the other meals you serve include white potatoes, sweet corn and tomatoes from the produce counter. Receipts of white potatoes are increasing. While the supply of local and nearby sweet corn and tomatoes lasts use them generously. There is also a wide choice of other vegetables. The fruit counter offers the best buys in peaches, Bartlett pears and grapes. Elbertas and J. H. Hale peaches are on the market. Seckel pears are available. Italian prunes are in the markets.

Cranberry Cream Salad

- 1 package cherry-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 (1-lb.) can Whole Berry Cranberry Sauce
- ½ cup diced celery
- ¼ cup commercial sour cream

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Let chill until slightly thickened. Break up cranberry sauce with fork. Stir into gelatin with celery and walnuts. Fold in sour cream. Pour into a 1-quart mold and chill until firm. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Mercury Spacecraft Undergoing Changes For Schirra's Six-Orbit Flight

By The Associated Press

Sometime in the next month astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. is to ride a Mercury spacecraft six times around the earth to a Pacific Ocean landing. It will come four months after the latest Mercury manned shot. What happens in those four months is a subject for science at work.

The public eye is focused on the magic of the moment—a man staking his life on an adventurous ride into space.

But what of the months between these big moments? Why does it take so long between shots? The question is to be expected. To the men at work on Mercury spacecraft the answer is obvious.

The spacecraft itself is constantly changing. Malcolm Scott Carpenter's Aurora 7 spacecraft was different in some respects to John H. Glenn Jr.'s Freedom 7. Each flight contributes new ideas, new concepts of flight, new evaluations of equipment.

As of now, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials plan at least one six-orbit flight—Schirra's—and at least one 18-orbit flight. How well the Mercury spacecraft and its pilot perform can determine the next shot.

For instance, Carpenter's flight May 24 confirmed some ideas, offered some new ones.

Carpenter found he could easily put the spacecraft into controlled drift—constantly changing altitude. The maneuver didn't seem to bother him — and it allowed a conservation of the fuel used to maintain the altitude—the pitch, yaw and roll of the spacecraft.

On future long-term missions, this will be part of the flight order. Earlier astronauts questioned the need of the 69-pound telescope. The spacecraft window in the Carpenter flight seemed adequate. In future flights the telescope will be removed, and the weight used to provide other services.

Glenn's experience allowed Mercury engineers to remove some instruments from the spacecraft dash panel, and put in some additional heat-sensing equipment, and improve the electrical circuits that sense the release of the heat shield. There were other changes too.

But every change has to be designed and engineered. It must be fitted into the Mercury capsule.

Changes in the spacecraft itself are only part of the story. NASA planners look carefully at the pilot's performance, his flight plan, the things he did in orbit.

Carpenter became engrossed in certain of the phenomena he observed during the flight. He was concerned with looking closer at some of the things Glenn had observed—the strange particles for instance.

In fact it was, by his own statement, the discovery of these particles toward the end of his flight that made him hurry his preparations for re-entry to the earth.

Rustlers Of Cattle Active In Hardy Co.

Harper Loses Blooded Heifers

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Cattle rustlers were active Friday night near Durgon with the theft of six cattle. S. L. Harper, Jr. lost four blooded heifers which weighed between 200 and 250 pounds, also a bull calf only three or four days old. The heifers were to have been replacement stock for Harper's dairy herd.

On the same evening a 400-pound Holstein heifer was stolen from D. P. Harper. This animal had been recently dehorned, was tatooed and tagged and vaccinated.

The cattle were stolen between the hours of nine p. m. Friday and 5 a. m. Saturday. The animals were led or driven to the Durgon Chapel yard where they were loaded into what apparently was a pick-up truck. The brazenness of the theft was evidenced by the fact that a flood light was lighting the area around Harper's Dairy building and around the farm yard and house at the home of Mrs. S. L. Harper, Sr., making the area where the theft occurred in plain view.

Corporal J. A. Shrout and Trooper A. J. Wade of the Moorefield detachment of the Department of Public Safety investigated the theft. They obtained the imprints of the tires on the vehicle used by the thieves.

S. L. Harper Jr., who lost five of the animals, is offering a reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the cattle rustlers. Stockyards and sales throughout the area have been alerted to be on the lookout for the stolen animals.

An attempt to steal some cattle from Bill Williams above Moorefield last week was thwarted when he found the cattle penned and ready for removal. Stockmen all over the South Branch Valley are alerted for any further attempts at rustling.

Rustlers Of Cattle Active In Hardy Co.

Harper Loses Blooded Heifers

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Cattle rustlers were active Friday night near Durgon with the theft of six cattle. S. L. Harper, Jr. lost four blooded heifers which weighed between 200 and 250 pounds, also a bull calf only three or four days old. The heifers were to have been replacement stock for Harper's dairy herd.

On the same evening a 400-pound Holstein heifer was stolen from D. P. Harper. This animal had been recently dehorned, was tatooed and tagged and vaccinated.

The cattle were stolen between the hours of nine p. m. Friday and 5 a. m. Saturday. The animals were led or driven to the Durgon Chapel yard where they were loaded into what apparently was a pick-up truck. The brazenness of the theft was evidenced by the fact that a flood light was lighting the area around Harper's Dairy building and around the farm yard and house at the home of Mrs. S. L. Harper, Sr., making the area where the theft occurred in plain view.

Corporal J. A. Shrout and Trooper A. J. Wade of the Moorefield detachment of the Department of Public Safety investigated the theft. They obtained the imprints of the tires on the vehicle used by the thieves.

S. L. Harper Jr., who lost five of the animals, is offering a reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the cattle rustlers. Stockyards and sales throughout the area have been alerted to be on the lookout for the stolen animals.

An attempt to steal some cattle from Bill Williams above Moorefield last week was thwarted when he found the cattle penned and ready for removal. Stockmen all over the South Branch Valley are alerted for any further attempts at rustling.

Bengal Homers Seal Double Loss By Birds

Aquirre Lowers ERA To 2.17; Tigers Win Season Series, 16-2

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Home runs by Al Kaline, Steve Boros and Rocky Colavito, his 33rd, backed up southpaw Hank Aguirre's shutout pitching to give Detroit a 6-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in the second game of a twi-night doubelheader Wednesday night after the Tigers won the first game, 5-2.

The double triumph gave Detroit the season series over the Orioles, 16-2. It was the first time since Baltimore returned to the major leagues in 1954 that the Orioles failed to win at least three games in a season against any individual opponent.

With two on in the eighth Colavito homered off reliever Hoyt Wilhelm to give the Detroit slugger an even 100 runs batted in for the season.

For Aguirre, who now has won 14 games against six defeats it was his fourth victory without a setback against the Orioles this this season and his second shutout. He also lowered his league leading earned run average to 2.17, allowing five hits and striking out seven.

Bruton's three-run homer off losing pitcher Robin Roberts was the big blow in Jim Bunning's 16th victory in the first game. Bruton's blast came after the Tigers tied the score at 1-1 in the fifth inning on doubles by Boros and Dick Brown and Bunning had singled Brown to third.

Belinsky Sale Is Denied By A's And Angels

Bo Says He Knew Of Deal Two Weeks

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The reported secret sale of pitcher Bo Belinsky by the Los Angeles Angels to the Kansas City Athletics for future delivery was denied by both clubs Wednesday despite the no-hit southpaw's assertion that he has been aware of the deal for two weeks.

"I was told about the deal the last time we played in Kansas City," Belinsky said in his hotel after Wednesday's game between the Angels and the American League-leading New York Yankees had been postponed until Thursday.

"I'm just surprised that they would let the story leak out now with our club fighting for a pennant. That's bad for the team's morale and certainly is not a good thing when one of the players—that's me—knows he won't be with the club next season."

Belinsky, according to the reports, will be sent to the Athletics following the conclusion of the season to complete a July 21 deal in which Los Angeles obtained pitcher Dan Osinski.

Angels Got Osinski

The Angels acquired Osinski from Portland of the Pacific Coast League, which has a working agreement with Kansas City. In return the Angels paid $35,000 and promised a player to be named later. The player agreed upon was Belinsky, said Bo.

Such deals are fairly common practice in the major leagues during the period between June 16 and the season's close when all but waiver deals are forbidden. However, it is illegal for the clubs involved to designate the "promised player" in such a deal.

Officials of the Los Angeles and Kansas City clubs denied they had agreed on any particular player to be delivered to the Athletics at the end of the season.

General Manager Fred Haney of the Angels, reached in Los Angeles by telephone, said: "We owe a player to the Kansas City club as part of the deal in which we acquired Osinski. We agreed that the player was to be named at a later date. No player has been decided upon at this time."

A's Received Cash

Charles Finley, owner of the Athletics, corroborated Haney's statement and added: "We received cash ($35,000) and the promise of a player to be announced at the end of the season, subject to approval by both clubs.

"But we don't know whether that player will be Belinsky or somebody else. I can't come out and say we got Belinsky when we don't know whether we got him or not."

Baseball secretary-treasurer Charles Segar, speaking in behalf of the absent Commissioner Ford Frick said:

Colts Ask Waivers On Two Players

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts requested waivers on a veteran pass receiver and a rookie linebacker Wednesday and thus cut the squad's roster to 39.

The National Football League club dropped holdover Ken Gregory, top pass catcher at Whittier College two years ago. Dave Yohn, a tough linebacker from Gettysburg, Pa., also was cut.

Ken Hubbs Sets Mark As Chicubs Bow To Reds, 7-5

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Rookie Ken Hubbs of the Chicago Cubs broke the major league record for chances handled by a second baseman without an error in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader Wednesday night but the Cincinnati Reds still gained a 7-5 victory over the Cubs.

Hubbs eclipsed Bobby Doerr's record of 414 perfect chances on John Edwards' ground ball in the fourth inning. The Cub second baseman then added two more chances without a miscue to run his total to 416.

Gordy Coleman hit a home run with Leo Cardenas on base in the last of the 10th to give the Reds their victory. Johnny Klippstein, who relieved starter Jim Maloney in the fifth, gave up one hit to notch his sixth victory.

Powers' 2-Run Double Decides Slugfest, 9-7

Minnesota Blows Big Lead; Gains On N.Y. Yankees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The pennant - contending Minnesota Twins squandered a four-run lead in the ninth inning Wednesday night but bounced back with two runs in the 11th to defeat the Washington Senators, 9-7, in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

In the ninth, a pair of singles and two walks gave the Senators a run and drove reliever Ray Moore from the mound. His successor, Frank Sullivan, was banged for singles by Chuck Hinton and Jim King that were good for three runs to tie the contest.

Kennedy Debuts With Home Run

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Kennedy broke in with a bang Wednesday night at Washington when he hit a pinch-hit home run in his first time at bat for the Senators.

Kennedy, 20, was called up by the Senators from their Raleigh farm club Wednesday. He was sent in as a pinch-hitter in the sixth inning of the Washington-Minnesota game. He took one strike and drilled the next pitch over the fence into the bullpen.

Kennedy was born on May 29, the same as the President.

The New York Mets have lost 12 doubleheaders this season. And they lost 32 games by one run.

Martinsburg's Bulldogs have been picked a one-touchdown favorite to defeat Keyser High's Golden Tornado in their game this Friday at Keyser. The selection was made by John Kady of the UPI in Charleston, W. Va., in his pre-game forecast yesterday.

Kady figures Martinsburg will edge Coach Fred Clark's eleven 6-0 in their opener. Other "picks" by the UPI forecaster are Parkersburg over Elkins, 7-0; Philippi over Kingwood, 19-13; Morgantown University over Parsons, 12-7; Clay-Battelle over Terra Alta, 6-0; and Mountaineer High of Thomas over Lumberport, 13-0.

Cresaptown Trips Pinto, 7-5, Plays Old Furnace Today

Cresaptown Methodist broke a 5-5 tie on Jerry Lease's bases-loaded single in the fifth inning and went on to upset Pinto Mennonite, winner of the first and second half championship, yesterday in the Inter-Church Softball League round-robin playoffs. The score was 7-5.

John Cross scattered 11 hits in going the route against Pinto, giving Cresaptown the right to play Old Furnace Church of the Brethren today in the opening game of a best-of-three final series at 5:30 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

Glen Clayton, Howard Hersh and Lou Caldwell each garnered two hits to pace Cresaptown's 14-hit attack against two Pinto hurlers. Dale Blauch, the losing pitcher, and Arley Dolly shared four of the losers' bingles.

Hersh, Jim Glover and Caldwell walked to load the bases in the fifth for Cresaptown and two runs crossed the plate to hand Pinto only its second loss in 23 games when Lease singled.

The second game of the final set is slated for Friday and the third, if necessary, on Saturday. Old Furnace will go into the finals with an overall record of 17 wins and four losses. The results:

Golf Pros Vie For Bonus On Tourney Trail

DENVER (UPI)—Starting with the Denver Open Thursday, the professional who plays the best golf consistently in five western tournaments will pick up a bonus check of $5,000.

A field of 120 pros will begin to shoot for the bonus Thursday in the first round of the 72-hole, $35,000 Denver Open at Denver country club. Under the arrangement, the Western States Golf Association is offering $20,000 for the 10 leaders in the five tourneys, with the top pro receiving $5,000.

The lure is designed to keep the top pros on the circuit as it swings from Denver to Seattle, Portland, Las Vegas and Bakersfield.

Billy Casper Jr., the fourth leading money winner on the pro circuit, and Billy Maxwell and Doug Sanders, fresh from recent victories, head the field in Thursday's 18-hole round over the par 70, 6,753 - yard Denver Country Club layout. Maxwell captured the Oklahoma City Open the week before.

But the three big names in golf — Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus — will miss the Denver tourney. They will be shooting for the championship of the "World Series of Golf" at Akron, Ohio Saturday and Sunday in a three-way match.

Bengal Homers Seal Double Loss By Birds

Aquirre Lowers ERA To 2.17; Tigers Win Season Series, 16-2

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Home runs by Al Kaline, Steve Boros and Rocky Colavito, his 33rd, backed up southpaw Hank Aguirre's shutout pitching to give Detroit a 6-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in the second game of a twi-night doubelheader Wednesday night after the Tigers won the first game, 5-2.

The double triumph gave Detroit the season series over the Orioles, 16-2. It was the first time since Baltimore returned to the major leagues in 1954 that the Orioles failed to win at least three games in a season against any individual opponent.

With two on in the eighth Colavito homered off reliever Hoyt Wilhelm to give the Detroit slugger an even 100 runs batted in for the season.

For Aguirre, who now has won 14 games against six defeats it was his fourth victory without a setback against the Orioles this this season and his second shutout. He also lowered his league leading earned run average to 2.17, allowing five hits and striking out seven.

Bruton's three-run homer off losing pitcher Robin Roberts was the big blow in Jim Bunning's 16th victory in the first game. Bruton's blast came after the Tigers tied the score at 1-1 in the fifth inning on doubles by Boros and Dick Brown and Bunning had singled Brown to third.

Belinsky Sale Is Denied By A's And Angels

Bo Says He Knew Of Deal Two Weeks

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The reported secret sale of pitcher Bo Belinsky by the Los Angeles Angels to the Kansas City Athletics for future delivery was denied by both clubs Wednesday despite the no-hit southpaw's assertion that he has been aware of the deal for two weeks.

"I was told about the deal the last time we played in Kansas City," Belinsky said in his hotel after Wednesday's game between the Angels and the American League-leading New York Yankees had been postponed until Thursday.

"I'm just surprised that they would let the story leak out now with our club fighting for a pennant. That's bad for the team's morale and certainly is not a good thing when one of the players—that's me—knows he won't be with the club next season."

Belinsky, according to the reports, will be sent to the Athletics following the conclusion of the season to complete a July 21 deal in which Los Angeles obtained pitcher Dan Osinski.

Angels Got Osinski

The Angels acquired Osinski from Portland of the Pacific Coast League, which has a working agreement with Kansas City. In return the Angels paid $35,000 and promised a player to be named later. The player agreed upon was Belinsky, said Bo.

Such deals are fairly common practice in the major leagues during the period between June 16 and the season's close when all but waiver deals are forbidden. However, it is illegal for the clubs involved to designate the "promised player" in such a deal.

Officials of the Los Angeles and Kansas City clubs denied they had agreed on any particular player to be delivered to the Athletics at the end of the season.

General Manager Fred Haney of the Angels, reached in Los Angeles by telephone, said: "We owe a player to the Kansas City club as part of the deal in which we acquired Osinski. We agreed that the player was to be named at a later date. No player has been decided upon at this time."

A's Received Cash

Charles Finley, owner of the Athletics, corroborated Haney's statement and added: "We received cash ($35,000) and the promise of a player to be announced at the end of the season, subject to approval by both clubs.

"But we don't know whether that player will be Belinsky or somebody else. I can't come out and say we got Belinsky when we don't know whether we got him or not."

Baseball secretary-treasurer Charles Segar, speaking in behalf of the absent Commissioner Ford Frick said:

Colts Ask Waivers On Two Players

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts requested waivers on a veteran pass receiver and a rookie linebacker Wednesday and thus cut the squad's roster to 39.

The National Football League club dropped holdover Ken Gregory, top pass catcher at Whittier College two years ago. Dave Yohn, a tough linebacker from Gettysburg, Pa., also was cut.

Ken Hubbs Sets Mark As Chicubs Bow To Reds, 7-5

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Rookie Ken Hubbs of the Chicago Cubs broke the major league record for chances handled by a second baseman without an error in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader Wednesday night but the Cincinnati Reds still gained a 7-5 victory over the Cubs.

Hubbs eclipsed Bobby Doerr's record of 414 perfect chances on John Edwards' ground ball in the fourth inning. The Cub second baseman then added two more chances without a miscue to run his total to 416.

Gordy Coleman hit a home run with Leo Cardenas on base in the last of the 10th to give the Reds their victory. Johnny Klippstein, who relieved starter Jim Maloney in the fifth, gave up one hit to notch his sixth victory.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The heavyweight elimination bout between undefeated Cassius Clay of Louisville, Ky., and veteran boxer Archie Moore of San Diego, Calif., Wednesday was set for the vast Los Angeles Coliseum on the evening of Oct. 23.

The Coliseum Commission, governing body for the 105,000-seat stadium, approved the application of the Olympic Boxing Club to stage the Clay-Moore bout there.

"Bill" was an outstanding amateur lightweight boxer here in the 1930s and is in the motel and restaurant supply business in Virginia.

His father, William J. Niland, resides at 310 Park Street.

Minnesota Blows Big Lead; Gains On N.Y. Yankees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The pennant - contending Minnesota Twins squandered a four-run lead in the ninth inning Wednesday night but bounced back with two runs in the 11th to defeat the Washington Senators, 9-7, in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

The hard-fought win pulled Minnesota to within two games of the idle league - leading New York Yankees.

The Twins had built up a 5-0 lead in the first three innings with Harmon Killebrew hammering his 37th homer of the year for two runs and Earl Battey smacking a solo homer.

In the ninth, a pair of singles and two walks gave the Senators a run and drove reliever Ray Moore from the mound. His successor, Frank Sullivan, was banged for singles by Chuck Hinton and Jim King that were good for three runs to tie the contest.

Kennedy Debuts With Home Run

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Kennedy broke in with a bang Wednesday night at Washington when he hit a pinch-hit home run in his first time at bat for the Senators.

Kennedy, 20, was called up by the Senators from their Raleigh farm club Wednesday. He was sent in as a pinch-hitter in the sixth inning of the Washington-Minnesota game. He took one strike and drilled the next pitch over the fence into the bullpen.

Kennedy was born on May 29, the same as the President.

The New York Mets have lost 12 doubleheaders this season. And they lost 32 games by one run.

Cresaptown Trips Pinto, 7-5, Plays Old Furnace Today

Cresaptown Methodist broke a 5-5 tie on Jerry Lease's bases-loaded single in the fifth inning and went on to upset Pinto Mennonite, winner of the first and second half championship, yesterday in the Inter-Church Softball League round-robin playoffs. The score was 7-5.

Golf Pros Vie For Bonus On Tourney Trail

DENVER (UPI)—Starting with the Denver Open Thursday, the professional who plays the best golf consistently in five western tournaments will pick up a bonus check of $5,000.

A field of 120 pros will begin to shoot for the bonus Thursday in the first round of the 72-hole, $35,000 Denver Open at Denver country club. Under the arrangement, the Western States Golf Association is offering $20,000 for the 10 leaders in the five tourneys, with the top pro receiving $5,000.

The lure is designed to keep the top pros on the circuit as it swings from Denver to Seattle, Portland, Las Vegas and Bakersfield.

Billy Casper Jr., the fourth leading money winner on the pro circuit, and Billy Maxwell and Doug Sanders, fresh from recent victories, head the field in Thursday's 18-hole round over the par 70, 6,753 - yard Denver Country Club layout. Maxwell captured the Oklahoma City Open the week before.

Johnny Pott, who finished second in both tourneys, will be here in an attempt to break the spell and win the big prize.

But the three big names in golf — Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus — will miss the Denver tourney. They will be shooting for the championship of the "World Series of Golf" at Akron, Ohio Saturday and Sunday in a three-way match.

Cold Drizzle Washes Out National Tennis Matches

Finals Now Slated Day Late; Osuna, Reed Meet Today

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., (AP)—The National Tennis Championships took another good dowsing Wednesday, and so fans must wait 24 hours to see whether Mexico's confident Rafael Osuna gets his comeuppance from America's unpredictable Whitney Reed.

A cold, raw drizzle washed out the third round matches in both men's and women's singles at the West Side Tennis Club—the third interruption in four days—and threw the schedule into a tizzy.

Barring further delay, the women's final will be staged Sunday and the men's final Monday—both a day late.

The Osuna-Reed match headlines the program Thursday, which will see both singles fields reduced to the round of 16.

"Reed? Oh, I should get past him easily enough."

Hurts Reed's Pride

This remark merely poured fresh vinegar in Reed's wounded pride. Ranked No. 1 in the United States this year, the 30-year-old playboy bachelor from Alameda, Calif., has taken nothing but abuse the last few months.

He has been ridiculed as a court buffoon whose No. 1 ranking was an accident. He has been beaten in the first round of almost every tournament in which he has competed. The hardest blow came when he was booted off the U.S. Davis Cup team just before the Mexican matches.

"At first I went along with it as a joke, but I'm getting fed up with being called a clown," Reed said. "I'd like to show them."

If he were a baseball pitcher, the blond, handsome Reed would be called a "junk man." His repertoire consists of strange rolling volleys, drop shots and dinky lobs. But he has, on given days, beaten the world's best and already in this tournament has ousted Davis Cupper Dennis Ralston and promising Cliff Buchholz.

Others Fairly Easy

Other seeded favorites apparently have it fairly easy. Australian Rod Laver, shooting for a sweep of major championships, plays Bodo Nitsche of Germany. Third-seeded Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., faces Wladislaw Skonecki, the Polish defector; Jan-Erik Lundquist of Sweden, No. 6, takes on Vic Seixas, the old warhorse from Villanova, Pa., and Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., No. 8, meets South Africa's Cliff Drysdale.

Wilson Tops Kansas City For 6th Time

BOSTON (UPI) —The Boston Red Sox backed up Earl Wilson by rattling 16 hits off four Kansas City pitchers for a 12-4 victory over the Athletics Wednesday.

Wilson, winning his 12th of the season and running his lifetime record against the Athletics to 6-0, gave up 11 hits, including the 23rd home run of the season by American League runs-batted - in leader Norm Siebern.

The Red Sox, who put the game away with seven runs on nine hits including seven in succession in the third inning, picked up three more runs on Frank Malzone's 19th homer an inning later.

NEW YORK (UPI) —If any college football coach in the land has a right to moan about a tough schedule, it's Tommy O'Boyle of Tulane.

Tulane's Green Wave, scarcely more than a ripple last year and about the same for '62, faces the year's toughest schedule. It's Tommy's first year as a head coach and the list of foes he inherited from the departed Andy Pilney includes four of the nation's probable top 10—Alabama, Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana State.

Rates As Runner Up

Illinois, winless in nine games last season, probably rates as runnerup to Tulane for the "toughest schedule" title. The Illini take on Ohio State, Purdue and Michigan State of the potential 10 leaders with a team which, like Tulane, isn't expected to do much. For non-league foes, the Illini picked Washington and Southern California, neither of which is likely to help the Big 10 patsies break the losing habit.

Everything is relative in the schedule business and among the lesser colleges, Colorado State rates as "suicide champ." The Aggies figure to be the underdog in all 10 of their games.

Among others, Colorado State steps way up in class to play UCLA, Oregon State and Wyoming.

Kansas State probably will be an underdog in all its 10, Southern Methodist, California and William and Mary in nine.

Has Tough Opponents

Indiana opens with Kansas State and Cincinnati but has Michigan State, Ohio State and Purdue among its last four opponents. Michigan also plays those three big ones on Indiana's schedule. Mississippi State has Alabama, Louisiana State and Mississippi of the probable top 10 and North Carolina's schedule includes Ohio State, Michigan State and Duke of the elite.

In September, every coach has the crying towel out. But there isn't a one who'd trade his schedule with Tulane's with the material Tommy O'Boyle has available to cope with it.

Angels, Yankees Tilt Postponed, Rescheduled Today

NEW YORK (UPI) —The scheduled game between the Los Angeles Angels and New York Yankees was postponed by rain Wednesday and rescheduled for Thursday afternoon.

Both clubs had an open date on the schedule Thursday.

The Yankees also announced that ailing star Mickey Mantle saw Dr. Sidney Gaynor Wednesday night, and the outfielder's injury was diagnosed as an abdominal muscle strain on the right side. Earlier it was believed that Mantle had suffered a muscle strain in the right rib case.

Shannon Resigns St. Louis Position

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The resignation of Walter Shannon as director of player procurement for the St. Louis Cardinals was accepted Wednesday by General Manager Bing Devine.

Shannon, after 27 years with the Cardinals, will become midwestern director of scouts for the Cleveland Indians of the American League. The 55-year-old native St. Louisana had been with the Cardinals since 1935.

Eugene Open Starts Today

Women Pros Vie For $8,500 Purse

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — The first Eugene Ladies Open golf tournament, with a purse of $8,500, opens on the Eugene Country Club course Thursday.

The four-day, 72-hole tourney, features Mickey Wright of Dallas, Tex., and other top professionals. It is the first major pro tournament ever held here.

Free-swinging Miss Wright will be on hand to try and add to her $100,000 total she has won since turning professional in 1954.

The women's scored in the first two rounds Thursday and Friday will count in pro-amateur competition. The field will be trimmed to the low 50 scorers for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. Ruth Jessen, Betsy Rawls, Mary Lena Faulk, Marlene Bauer Hagge, Jackie Pung, Marilynn Smith, Barbara Romack, Kathy Whitworth and Shirley Englehorn are included among the other top ladies scheduled to compete.

Beagle Club To Hold Point Trial Sunday

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold the fourth of a series of point trials on Sunday beginning at 8 a.m., at the club grounds on Barton's Dairy farm.

Judge for the event will be Henry Lamb, New Florence, Pa., assisted by local members. The 15-inch class will be drawn at 8 o'clock while the 13-inch class will be selected at 1 p.m.

The club will hold an important meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the clubhouse to make arrangements for the AKC licensed four-day trial here October 20-23.

Carry Back, who will run in the Prix De L'Arc De Triomphe in France October 7, will have to run clockwise in that event.

Orioles Recall Five Players

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles recalled three catchers and two second basemen from their minor league clubs Wednesday.

The catchers are Ozzie Virgil, recalled from Rochester; Andy Etchebarren, from Elmira, N.Y., and Larry Haney, from Stockton, Calif. The second basemen are Bob Saverine, also recalled from Rochester, and Willard Oplinger, called up from Aberdeen, S.D.

The five players normally would report to the Orioles for spring training next season, but an Oriole spokesman said one or more could report this season.

World Motorcycle Speed Mark Set

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, (AP) — A 38-year-old truck driver from Garden Grove, Calif., set a world land speed record for motorcycles Wednesday.

Bill Johnson was timed at 222.52 miles per hour for the mile and 224.57 for the kilometer. He was driving a 650 cubic centimeter British-made Triumph cycle.

The old record was 211 m.p.h. set in 1956 by a German-made NSU cycle.

Cold Drizzle Washes Out National Tennis Matches

Finals Now Slated Day Late; Osuna, Reed Meet Today

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., (AP)—The National Tennis Championships took another good dowsing Wednesday, and so fans must wait 24 hours to see whether Mexico's confident Rafael Osuna gets his comeuppance from America's unpredictable Whitney Reed.

A cold, raw drizzle washed out the third round matches in both men's and women's singles at the West Side Tennis Club—the third interruption in four days—and threw the schedule into a tizzy.

Barring further delay, the women's final will be staged Sunday and the men's final Monday—both a day late.

The Osuna-Reed match headlines the program Thursday, which will see both singles fields reduced to the round of 16.

When asked about his next assignment, Osuna, the sleepy-eyed star of the Mexican Davis Cup team and fourth-seeded man, shrugged his shoulders and said:

"Reed? Oh, I should get past him easily enough."

Hurts Reed's Pride

This remark merely poured fresh vinegar in Reed's wounded pride. Ranked No. 1 in the United States this year, the 30-year-old playboy bachelor from Alameda, Calif., has taken nothing but abuse the last few months.

He has been ridiculed as a court buffoon whose No. 1 ranking was an accident. He has been beaten in the first round of almost every tournament in which he has competed. The hardest blow came when he was booted off the U.S. Davis Cup team just before the Mexican matches.

"At first I went along with it as a joke, but I'm getting fed up with being called a clown," Reed said. "I'd like to show them."

If he were a baseball pitcher, the blond, handsome Reed would be called a "junk man." His repertoire consists of strange rolling volleys, drop shots and dinky lobs. But he has, on given days, beaten the world's best and already in this tournament has ousted Davis Cupper Dennis Ralston and promising Cliff Buchholz.

Others Fairly Easy

Other seeded favorites apparently have it fairly easy. Australian Rod Laver, shooting for a sweep of major championships, plays Bodo Nitsche of Germany. Third-seeded Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., faces Wladislaw Skonecki, the Polish defector; Jan-Erik Lundquist of Sweden, No. 6, takes on Vic Seixas, the old warhorse from Villanova, Pa., and Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., No. 8, meets South Africa's Cliff Drysdale.

Second-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia, the defending champ, advanced Tuesday.

Wilson Tops Kansas City For 6th Time

BOSTON (UPI) —The Boston Red Sox backed up Earl Wilson by rattling 16 hits off four Kansas City pitchers for a 12-4 victory over the Athletics Wednesday.

Wilson, winning his 12th of the season and running his lifetime record against the Athletics to 6-0, gave up 11 hits, including the 23rd home run of the season by American League runs-batted - in leader Norm Siebern.

The Red Sox, who put the game away with seven runs on nine hits including seven in succession in the third inning, picked up three more runs on Frank Malzone's 19th homer an inning later.

Runnels hiked his batting average three points to .336.

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) —If any college football coach in the land has a right to moan about a tough schedule, it's Tommy O'Boyle of Tulane.

Tulane's Green Wave, scarcely more than a ripple last year and about the same for '62, faces the year's toughest schedule. It's Tommy's first year as a head coach and the list of foes he inherited from the departed Andy Pilney includes four of the nation's probable top 10—Alabama, Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana State.

The only time Tulane won't be a prohibitive underdog is in a November joust with Virginia Tech, and don't bet the rent money even on that one.

Rates As Runner Up

Illinois, winless in nine games last season, probably rates as runnerup to Tulane for the "toughest schedule" title. The Illini take on Ohio State, Purdue and Michigan State of the potential 10 leaders with a team which, like Tulane, isn't expected to do much. For non-league foes, the Illini picked Washington and Southern California, neither of which is likely to help the Big 10 patsies break the losing habit.

Everything is relative in the schedule business and among the lesser colleges, Colorado State rates as "suicide champ." The Aggies figure to be the underdog in all 10 of their games.

Among others, Colorado State steps way up in class to play UCLA, Oregon State and Wyoming.

Kansas State probably will be an underdog in all its 10, Southern Methodist, California and William and Mary in nine.

Has Tough Opponents

Indiana opens with Kansas State and Cincinnati but has Michigan State, Ohio State and Purdue among its last four opponents. Michigan also plays those three big ones on Indiana's schedule. Mississippi State has Alabama, Louisiana State and Mississippi of the probable top 10 and North Carolina's schedule includes Ohio State, Michigan State and Duke of the elite.

In September, every coach has the crying towel out. But there isn't a one who'd trade his schedule with Tulane's with the material Tommy O'Boyle has available to cope with it.

Angels, Yankees Tilt Postponed, Rescheduled Today

NEW YORK (UPI) —The scheduled game between the Los Angeles Angels and New York Yankees was postponed by rain Wednesday and rescheduled for Thursday afternoon.

Both clubs had an open date on the schedule Thursday.

The Yankees also announced that ailing star Mickey Mantle saw Dr. Sidney Gaynor Wednesday night, and the outfielder's injury was diagnosed as an abdominal muscle strain on the right side. Earlier it was believed that Mantle had suffered a muscle strain in the right rib case.

Shannon Resigns St. Louis Position

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The resignation of Walter Shannon as director of player procurement for the St. Louis Cardinals was accepted Wednesday by General Manager Bing Devine.

Shannon, after 27 years with the Cardinals, will become midwestern director of scouts for the Cleveland Indians of the American League. The 55-year-old native St. Louisana had been with the Cardinals since 1935.

Eugene Open Starts Today

Women Pros Vie For $8,500 Purse

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — The first Eugene Ladies Open golf tournament, with a purse of $8,500, opens on the Eugene Country Club course Thursday.

The four-day, 72-hole tourney, features Mickey Wright of Dallas, Tex., and other top professionals. It is the first major pro tournament ever held here.

Free-swinging Miss Wright will be on hand to try and add to her $100,000 total she has won since turning professional in 1954.

The women's scored in the first two rounds Thursday and Friday will count in pro-amateur competition. The field will be trimmed to the low 50 scorers for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. Ruth Jessen, Betsy Rawls, Mary Lena Faulk, Marlene Bauer Hagge, Jackie Pung, Marilynn Smith, Barbara Romack, Kathy Whitworth and Shirley Englehorn are included among the other top ladies scheduled to compete.

Beagle Club To Hold Point Trial Sunday

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold the fourth of a series of point trials on Sunday beginning at 8 a.m., at the club grounds on Barton's Dairy farm.

Judge for the event will be Henry Lamb, New Florence, Pa., assisted by local members. The 15-inch class will be drawn at 8 o'clock while the 13-inch class will be selected at 1 p.m.

The club will hold an important meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the clubhouse to make arrangements for the AKC licensed fourday trial here October 20-23.

Carry Back, who will run in the Prix De L'Arc De Triomphe in France October 7, will have to run clockwise in that event.

Orioles Recall Five Players

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles recalled three catchers and two second basemen from their minor league clubs Wednesday.

The catchers are Ozzie Virgil, recalled from Rochester; Andy Etchebarren, from Elmira, N.Y., and Larry Haney, from Stockton, Calif. The second basemen are Bob Saverine, also recalled from Rochester, and Willard Oplinger, called up from Aberdeen, S.D.

The five players normally would report to the Orioles for spring training next season, but an Oriole spokesman said one or more could report this season.

World Motorcycle Speed Mark Set

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, (AP) — A 38-year-old truck driver from Garden Grove, Calif., set a world land speed record for motorcycles Wednesday.

Bill Johnson was timed at 222.52 miles per hour for the mile and 224.57 for the kilometer. He was driving a 650 cubic centimeter British-made Triumph cycle.

The old record was 211 m.p.h. set in 1956 by a German-made NSU cycle.

May Have To Quit

LONDON (UPI)—The Home Office said Wednesday Bruce Prochnik, 13-year-old star of the musical "Oliver," may have to quit the show and return home before it opens in New York.

An official announcement cited the law which forbids Britons aged less than 14 to work abroad.

Young Prochnik has already felt the sting of British restrictions on young actors. He had to quit the London company of the show after 9 months—the longest time any school-age actor may work in any year.

YOU MIGHT not see an ad for a current model automobile or a slightly used television set in a newspaper a couple of centuries old, but one thing sure you'll find want ads. This proves that want ads have always brought results and are definitely here to stay

May Have To Quit

LONDON (UPI)—The Home Office said Wednesday Bruce Prochnik, 13-year-old star of the musical "Oliver," may have to quit the show and return home before it opens in New York.

An official announcement cited the law which forbids Britons aged less than 14 to work abroad.

Young Prochnik has already felt the sting of British restrictions on young actors. He had to quit the London company of the show after 9 months—the longest time any school-age actor may work in any year.

YOU MIGHT not see an ad for a current model automobile or a slightly used television set in a newspaper a couple of centuries old, but one thing sure you'll find want ads. This proves that want ads have always brought results and are definitely here to stay

Two City Units Approve Urban Renewal Plans

Downtown Project Gets Top Priority

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission and the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency last night approved recommendations made by the city's planning consultants for four urban renewal projects.

The suggestions include a general neighborhood renewal plan for the central business district, the source of much of the city's tax base; an urban renewal clearance project in South Cumberland in an area west of Maryland Avenue and north of Oldtown Road, where there is a concentration of dilapidated structures; that the entire Centre Street area should be established as an urban renewal project area, and finally that on the West Side, an area bounded by Greene Street, the Potomac River and a railroad spur line be an urban renewal area for primary clearance.

Approve Projects

Prior to the motion, Marion T. Powers, chairman of the agency, and George O. Hollar, commission chairman, said their groups had met and were agreeable to the proposals.

Mr. Powers said the Urban Renewal Agency members agreed that the central business section should get first attention, followed by the South Cumberland project.

At this point, it was brought out that before anything were done with the second proposal arrangements would have to be made for housing displaced families.

To place the program into effect, plans were made to expedite the city's application for certification of a Workable Program for the elimination and prevention of blighted areas.

Once this program is approved by the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the Urban Renewal Agency would be in a position to request a federal advance of funds to plan a detailed plan for the improvement of the central business district.

Want Too Much

Mr. Powers said he has had replies from two possible applicants and that "both want too much money." The agency plans to advertise for bids from interested applicants.

John R. Joyner, planner of the firm of Blair and Stein Associates, promised to have the Workable Program ready for submission at the October meeting.

The Workable Program is in effect a policy statement by the Mayor and Council, stating the city realizes it has blighted areas and wants to get rid of them, and announcing its plans for eliminating present blight and preventing it in the future.

Pledges Best Efforts

Mr. Powers pledged that the Urban Renewal Agency plans to do its very best for the City of Cumberland and predicted that after a detailed plan is presented to the people, "everybody will want to jump on the bandwagon."

It was pointed out that the approval of a workable program is now needed before a city can proceed with any public housing project.

Adoption and approval of a Workable Program does not end the city's obligation, as the plan must be resubmitted each year, with a progress report, for continued participation in public housing or urban renewal projects.

Plans call for hiring the administrator of the agency as soon as the Workable Program is approved, so he can expedite an application for funds for planning the downtown business district rehabilitation project.

The government foots three-fourths of the bill for urban renewal projects and allows the participating community credit for improvements, such as streets and sewers, made in connection

No Charges Planned In Accident

The state's attorney's office said yesterday no charges will be preferred in the death of Mrs. Bertha Ruth Reynolds, 70, of 725 Bedford Street, who was fatally injured Tuesday when she was struck by a small truck on North Centre Street.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, took a statement yesterday from Gary Kenneth Amick, 21, of Oldtown, who was driving the truck.

Mr. Lilya said the woman apparently stepped in front of the vehicle, and no motor vehicle or criminal charges will be placed against young Amick, an employe of Burkett Oldsmobile, Inc.

Mrs. Reynolds was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital but was pronounced dead on arrival. Death was due to head injuries.

A witness told authorities the woman seemed to stumble and fall into the path of the oncoming pickup truck.

Private services for Mrs. Reynolds will be held today at 11 a. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home by Rev. J. E. Dorsey. Interment will be in Woodlawn Burial Park.

Mathias Plans Rally Friday

FREDERICK (AP) — Maryland Republicans are set for a pre-campaign rally Friday at the farm of Rep. Charles Mathias, R-Md., two miles south of Frederick.

Frank Small Jr. and Edward T. Miller, GOP candidates for governor and U.S. senator respectively, are expected to attend.

The gathering of statewide candidates, state central committee members and precinct workers is designed to boost vote-getting activity, particularly on the precinct level.

Republican U.S. Sens. J. Glenn Beall and John Marshall Butler said they would attend if their work loads in Washington permit.

Conference Set On Dropouts From School

Local Leaders Will Participate

A number of Allegany County residents have been assigned specific responsibilities for the Governor's Conference on School Dropouts and Employment Problems of Youth to be held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore September 27.

The keynote speaker will be Daniel Schreiber, director of the School Dropouts project of the National Education Association.

A highlight of the conference will take place between 2 and 4 p. m. September 27 when more than 30 workshops are conducted.

David L. How can we help the school dropout adjust to his potential?"

Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, chairman of the Allegany County Youth Commission, will serve as leader of another workshop. Its subject will be: "What community projects have proved successful—review of the Ken Gar project, a project in raising the educational level and ambition of children in a given community?"

Francis Kenney, vice chairman of the Allegany County Youth Commission, will serve as recorder for another workshop on the topic: "What is the responsibility of the State Employment Service in placing school dropouts?"

Two other Allegany countians will participate in another workshop entitled: "How are youth employment agencies set up in rural areas?" Mrs. Anna Deremer, a member of the Allegany County Youth Commission, will serve as a consultant for this workshop. Glenn U. Hanna, a visiting teacher here, will be the recorder.

Garrett County Gets $2,289 From Forests

District Forester W. A. C. Irwin presented a check for $2,289.61 to the Garrett County Board of Commissioners in Oakland.

That check represented 15 per cent of the income of the State Department of Forests and Parks from Savage River, Swallow Falls and Potomac State forests and from Deep Creek Lake State Park in the quarter from April 1 through June 30.

Mr. Irwin said that check brought to $8,624.44 the amount received by the Garrett County commissioners from this source during the entire fiscal year.

The program for ladies will include a visit to a dress factory and a demonstration of the use of educational television in the school system.

Republicans Gain Registration Edge

Republicans gained a three-to-one registration edge as Francis Thompson and Charles Llewellyn, substitute registrars for the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, sat yesterday and last night in Barton and Midland.

Twelve prospective new voters registered yesterday, nine as Republicans and three as Democrats. All six that signed up at Barton were Republicans. At Midland there were three Democrats and three Republicans.

Today the touring substitute registrars will be at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant from 1 until 4 p. m. and at the Shaft Fire Hall from 6 until 9 p. m.

Water Flows Over Blue Spring Weir

Water has been flowing over the spillway of the Blue Spring since Sunday, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum reported yesterday.

The water was so low early last week that city officials were concerned with the safety of the big fish stocked in the pool beside the Canada Hose House on North Mechanic Street.

The historic spring is fed by an underground stream believed to originate near the Pennsylvania-Maryland line on Bedford Road.

Father Becomes Principal As Son Enters First Grade

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Yesterday was a milestone in the educational career of Harry R. Thomas, of 70 Linden Street, Frostburg, as well as for his six-year-old son, Harry R. Thomas Jr.

The father, who will be 34 years old later this month, assumed duties as principal of Centre Street Elementary School yesterday after eight years as a teacher. His only son began his studies in the first grade of Beall Elementary School, the same school his father had attended.

Mr. Thomas commented that Earl F. Brain, who was principal at Beall Elementary School when he was a student there, is still the principal. Mr. Brain has been principal at Beall Elementary ever since September 1940.

Mr. Thomas, a short but rugged man, seemed pleased at noon yesterday that his first day as a principal had created no insurmountable problems.

One of things that impressed itself upon the new Centre Street School principal yesterday is the seeming split personality aspect of his new job. Mr. Thomas wears one hat as principal of Centre Street and another as teacher.

Full-Time Teacher, Too

Centre Street School, with an enrollment of only 150 pupils, has a faculty of five other teachers besides the principal. In addition to handling the administrative duties as principal he must serve as a full-time teacher for the sixth grade class of 29 boys and girls.

In the school's office much of his time is spent dealing with adults — supervisors and parents primarily. When he steps through the adjacent door to his classroom he deals primarily with a group of 11-year-old youngsters whose interests are far different from those of the adults.

Safety is a lesson that must be learned by all boys and girls of school age. It is especially important in a school like Centre Street, situated as it is along a busy one-way street.

For the opening day of classes yesterday, 147 well-scrubbed boys and girls put in an appearance. An enrollment of 150 had been expected, 73 boys and 77 girls.

One of the three absentees yesterday was James E. Stott, an eight-year-old boy who lives at 615 North Mechanic Street. His absence served as the opening day safety lessons for the Centre Street youngsters.

Young Stott, who will be in the second grade this year, came out second best on August 21 when his wagon was struck by an automobile on Brooklyn Place, which runs off North Mechanic Street near his home. He was taken to Memorial Hospital after the accident for treatment of head injuries and a fractured right shoulder.

Four Other New Principals

The new principal, who is only five feet four inches but weighs a hefty 160 pounds, was graduated from Beall High School in 1946. After Navy service, he matriculated at Frostburg State Teachers College, from which he was graduated in 1954. He taught the first year out of college at Mt. Airy in Carroll County and has been at Gephart School on Frederick Street as sixth grade teacher the last seven years.

By going to Morgantown, W. Va., for five summers of graduate study, plus taking some additional courses at Potomac State College in Keyser and at Berkeley Springs, W. Va., during the school year, he managed to obtain his master's degree in 1959 from West Virginia University. He majored in "The Elementary Principal and Administration."

Mr. Thomas is one of five Allegany County educators who are serving as principals for the first time. The others are James H. White, Flintstone School; Kendrick Y. Hodgdon, Mt. Savage School; William R. Brake, Corriganville Elementary School, and

Bill Favors Redemption Of Ground Rents

BALTIMORE (AP)—A legislative committee reported favorably Wednesday a bill which would permit immediate redemption of ground rents.

Most ground rents in the Baltimore area now are redeemable only after five years and some are not redeemable at all.

The measure approved by the Judiciary Committee of the Legislative Council would permit home buyers to immediately buy ground on which rent had previously been established.

The council, between-sessions study arm of the Maryland General Assembly, shelved a similar bill last year.

Apportionment Argument Set

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—Argument will be heard Sept. 20 on the State of Maryland's demurrer to a suit filed by two Calvert County residents last June attacking the legality of reapportionment of the state legislature.

The state contends in the demurrer that the suit against reapportionment lacks legal sufficiency.

Attorneys for William A. Reick of Lower Marlboro and Robert E. Allen Jr. of Huntington contended the legislation adding 19 seats to the House of Delegates was unconstitutional.

The legislature enacted the measure 10 minutes before expiration of the June 1 deadline for passage of simple bills. Hence, 10 minutes later, the bill became law.

Attorneys for Reick and Allen claimed voters were not given time to exercise their right of petitioning the measure to a referendum.

Equity Suits Filed

Two new equity suits were filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Joseph E. Wilkes vs. Rodelca M. Wilkes and Virginia Lee Kemp vs. Lloyd Kemp Jr.

Court Action Seeks To Limit Fill For Road

Injunction Sought Against Hospital

The Cumberland Real Estate Corporation, 859 Camden Avenue, has filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court seeking an injunction restraining Sacred Heart Hospital of the Sisters of Charity Inc., from making a fill along the proposed access road to the proposed new hospital of over three feet in height except at the natural ravines, where the fills are not to exceed eight feet in height.

This bill of complaint notes that the two parties in this legal action entered into an agreement and option concerning real estate in connection with the sale of a right of way for an access road from Braddock Road to the proposed Sacred Heart Hospital site on Haystack Mountain.

"No fills or cuts shall be made during the construction of the access road of over three feet in height or depth without the prior written consent of the seller with the exception of any natural ravine."

Prior to the execution of this agreement, the bill of complaint states, representatives of the plaintiff and the defendant walked over the site of the proposed access road. Representatives of the defendant informed representatives of the complainant that the natural ravines would be filled during the course of the construction of the access road but this would not require a fill of over eight feet.

The complainant since has been advised by representatives of the defendant that it intends to make a fill of approximately 20 feet over the two ravines. The real estate corporation contends that such a fill would destroy the marketability of approximately 15 lots located on both sides of the road which it owns.

In conclusion, the complainant asks for the permanent injunction restraining the defendant from making a fill of over three feet except in the ravines, where the fill shall not exceed eight feet.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris has signed a show cause order in the case giving the defendant 10 days to show cause why the injunction should not be granted.

This equity suit was filed for the corporation by Attorney Gorman E. Getty. The attorney for the defendant is Hugh A. McMullen.

Discuss Community Improvements

John R. Joyner, resident planner for this city's planning program, points out suggested urban renewal projects to George O. Hollar, chairman of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, and Marion T. Powers, right, chairman of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency, during a joint meeting in City Hall last night, attended by officials of both boards and the Mayor and Council. Agreement was reached by the commission and agency that recommendations made by Blair and Stein Associates should be adopted. There was also agreement that the central business district should get priority.

Continentals To Take Part In Battle Of Antietam

The Cumberland Continentals, local Civil War unit, will take part in the re-enactment of the Battle of Antietam on September 15 and 16 near Hagerstown.

The local unit will be a part of Federal Army's second assault which resulted in a successful campaign against the Southern forces.

Facilities for spectators will be available both afternoons on a small ridge overlooking the battle site. All action during the battles will be plainly visible from the ridge.

100 years ago on September 5 and 6, 55,000 Confederate soldiers under General Robert E. Lee crossed the Potomac River near Leesburg, Va., to begin the first of the South's invasions of the North.

However, Gen. Lee was forced to send his troops to Sharpsburg when he learned the planned invasion had to be put off or abandoned unless Gen. George B. McClellan could be defeated.

This set the stage for one of the bloodiest scenes of the Civil War and that portion of the war will be recreated next weekend in and around the Dunkard Church near Hagerstown.

Two City Units Approve Urban Renewal Plans

Downtown Project Gets Top Priority

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission and the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency last night approved recommendations made by the city's planning consultants for four urban renewal projects.

The action was taken during a joint meeting in City Hall and followed separate discussion meetings held by the commission and the agency.

The suggestions include a general neighborhood renewal plan for the central business district, the source of much of the city's tax base; an urban renewal clearance project in South Cumberland in an area west of Maryland Avenue and north of Oldtown Road, where there is a concentration of dilapidated structures; that the entire Centre Street area should be established as an urban renewal project area, and finally that on the West Side, an area bounded by Greene Street, the Potomac River and a railroad spur line be an urban renewal area for primary clearance.

Approve Projects

Prior to the motion, Marion T. Powers, chairman of the agency, and George O. Hollar, commission chairman, said their groups had met and were agreeable to the proposals.

Mr. Powers said the Urban Renewal Agency members agreed that the central business section should get first attention, followed by the South Cumberland project.

At this point, it was brought out that before anything were done with the second proposal arrangements would have to be made for housing displaced families.

To place the program into effect, plans were made to expedite the city's application for certification of a Workable Program for the elimination and prevention of blighted areas.

Once this program is approved by the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the Urban Renewal Agency would be in a position to request a federal advance of funds to plan a detailed plan for the improvement of the central business district.

Want Too Much

Another step is the employment of an executive administrator for the Urban Renewal Agency.

Mr. Powers said he has had replies from two possible applicants and that "both want too much money." The agency plans to advertise for bids from interesied applicants.

John R. Joyner, planner of the firm of Blair and Stein Associates, promised to have the Workable Program ready for submission at the October meeting.

The Workable Program is in effect a policy statement by the Mayor and Council, stating the city realizes it has blighted areas and wants to get rid of them, and announcing its plans for eliminating present blight and preventing it in the future.

Pledges Best Efforts

Mr. Powers pledged that the Urban Renewal Agency plans to do its very best for the City of Cumberland and predicted that after a detailed plan is presented to the people, "everybody will want to jump on the bandwagon."

It was pointed out that the approval of a workable program is now needed before a city can proceed with any public housing project.

Adoption and approval of a Workable Program does not end the city's obligation, as the plan must be resubmitted each year, with a progress report, for continued participation in public housing or urban renewal projects.

Plans call for hiring the administrator of the agency as soon as the Workable Program is approved, so he can expedite an application for funds for planning the downtown business district rehabilitation project.

The government foots three-fourths of the bill for urban renewal projects and allows the participating community credit for improvements, such as streets and sewers, made in connection

No Charges Planned In Accident

The state's attorney's office said yesterday no charges will be preferred in the death of Mrs. Bertha Ruth Reynolds, 70, of 725 Bedford Street, who was fatally injured Tuesday when she was struck by a small truck on North Centre Street.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, took a statement yesterday from Gary Kenneth Amick, 21, of Oldtown, who was driving the truck.

Mr. Lilya said the woman apparently stepped in front of the vehicle, and no motor vehicle or criminal charges will be placed against young Amick, an employe of Burkett Oldsmobile, Inc.

Mrs. Reynolds was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital but was pronounced dead on arrival. Death was due to head injuries.

Private services for Mrs. Reynolds will be held today at 11 a. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home by Rev. J. E. Dorsey. Interment will be in Woodlawn Burial Park.
